About Carthage

Carthage is a four-year, liberal arts college affiliated with the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America. Located in Kenosha, Wis., a thriving city of almost 100,000, and strategically situated midway between Chicago and Milwaukee, the College offers the Bachelor of Arts and Master of Education degrees. Carthage classes meet on the four-one-four academic calendar.

Founded in 1847 in Hillsboro, Ill., the College later moved to the state capital, Springfield, and moved again in 1870, this time to the rural, west-central city of Carthage, where the College acquired its present name. In 1962, Carthage relocated to Kenosha, and launched an era of exciting growth. In the decades since that move, the College has progressed from a small school with fewer than 500 students and financial assets of less than $3 million, to an institution with an enrollment of 2,500 full-time students and total assets exceeding $200 million. Similar achievements in curriculum development and faculty recruitment continue to advance the academic stature of the College.

Since moving to its new campus, Carthage has blended the old with the new — distinguished academic heritage with modern educational facilities. Carthage offers the traditional aspects of a college experience and adds the benefits of a beautiful lakeside setting within an hour's travel time of two great metropolitan centers. The Kenosha location not only makes Carthage easily accessible, but also enables students to take advantage of the many cultural and social opportunities available in the "hub of the Midwest."

The Carthage Mission

Carthage encourages community members to challenge and support one another, to accept responsibility and require accountability, and to collaborate in serving the best interest of students.

Religious Life

From its inception, Carthage College has been identified with the Lutheran tradition. Each of the College's mission statements, including the Strategic Plan of the Board of Trustees, affirms spiritual development of our students as a primary purpose. Along with this identity, religious inclusiveness is an intentional and specific objective. The student body and faculty represent many traditions, philosophies, and religions. It is the intent of Campus Ministry to support the spiritual needs of all. The core values of the Judeo-Christian tradition are embedded in campus life. This faith foundation helps all students prepare for careers by encouraging and nurturing personal spirituality, strong social ethics, respect for religious diversity, and sense of vocation.

Religious life is enhanced by several campus student organizations, including the Lutheran Student Movement, CUMBYA, and a local chapter of InterVarsity Christian Fellowship. Chapel staff and facilities encourage and provide support to these groups. Places of worship and meditation include the magnificent A. F. Siebert Chapel and three smaller chapels on campus. Each is available for use by registered campus groups.

Chapel

An ordained Lutheran pastor presides as campus minister. Weekly services of worship including Holy Communion are held. These include music, scripture, homilies, and witness by students or faculty. Large public services of worship following the Lutheran Liturgical tradition and including major choral and instrumental participation by the Carthage Music Department are scheduled frequently. The Lutheran Student Movement conducts prayer, song, and meditation each Sunday evening. A Roman Catholic lay minister serves as a resource to students and arranges for Sunday celebrations of Mass.

A primary focus of Chapel Ministries is personal counsel. The Pastor is available to students, staff, and faculty for consultation and meditation. Issues of stress involving personal relations, religious insights, and confrontation with new intellectual challenges are discussed in confidence. Communication between students and parents is mediated with the permission of each. It is the purpose of the Campus Pastor to be available for spiritual support when rabbi, priest, pastor, or imam is not locally available. The mission of Chapel Ministries is to connect faith and life issues for the benefit of all.

Library and Information Services

Library and Information Services (LIS) combines the staff expertise and resources of library, computing, and media services to provide a unified, holistic approach to the academic information needs of students and faculty. A primary purpose of LIS is to assist the College in producing more information-literate and technology-facile graduates. Workshops, tutorials, in-class instruction, trained assistants, and help desk staff are available for those who need assistance with any information or technology need.

Hedberg Library

Named for Donald Hedberg, a 1950 Carthage graduate, Hedberg Library supports the educational program of the College through providing students and faculty with the materials, services, support, and the inspirational space that they need to pursue their course assignments and research. In addition to the Saemann Curriculum Resource Center, Hedberg Library has several technology-enhanced classrooms as well as the 75-seat Niemann Media Theater. There are also numerous group and individual study rooms. The Staubitz Archives exists to document the life of Carthage College by collecting, preserving, and providing access to records and artifacts representing Carthage's rich history, the publications of faculty and staff, and the activities of the Carthage community. The Brainard Writing Center is staffed by trained Writing Fellows who provide assistance for any written assignment. Donna's Bytes, a cyber café, provides food, beverages, and a relaxing atmosphere for students to unwind and enjoy discussion with friends.

Hedberg Library contains a carefully selected collection of books, periodicals, video recordings, microforms, and various other materials. The growing collection of resources contains more than 129,605 print and more than 193,364 electronic volumes, and offers more than 63,493 e-journals and 55 databases. Laptop computers, iPads, Kindle book readers, camcorders, digital cameras, and other media equipment are available for loan as well. The library includes the Center for Children's Literature, which features a large collection of children's books and curriculum materials.

The library is a member of Wisconsin Interlibrary Services, thus giving Carthage students and faculty access to the combined resources of virtually all the libraries in the state of Wisconsin. Reference, interlibrary borrowing, resource development, instructional technology assistance, and information literacy instruction are provided to the Carthage community. In addition, media production equipment and assistance, videoconferencing services, and presentation resources are available to students and faculty alike.

The My Carthage Resource Center (MCRC) information desk combines the library reference desk with the technology help desk and is available virtually and during library hours for those who need assistance with hardware, software, media, and library-related questions. Open 100 hours per week, the library has a generous loan policy. Students are encouraged to use the library's resources and make suggestions for resources not currently owned.

Academic Computing Services

Carthage provides an extensive campus-wide network. All students, staff and faculty are issued a network user ID, allowing them to communicate by email with each other both on- and off-campus. The campus network allows users to search the library catalog and databases, and to access the Internet. Computer labs are located in academic buildings, providing more than 230 public access computers.

The majority of courses at Carthage are offered in media- and technology-enhanced classrooms. In addition, many instructors utilize the eLearning course management system to provide class resources electronically for anytime, anywhere access. Rooms in the residence halls have both wireless and direct Ethernet network access connections. Students interested in bringing their own computers and other digital devices should consult the LIS web page for options and requirements.

Media Services

Situated in the Hedberg Library, Media Services attends to the academic multimedia needs of the Carthage community. Production and presentation resources, such as DVD players, camcorders, data projectors, and digital cameras, are available to students and faculty for classroom use. Media Services also provides electronic classrooms, CD recording, video dubbing and editing, and two-way and multipoint videoconferencing services.

Accreditation

Carthage has been accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools since 1916, when the association became the primary accrediting agency for schools in the Midwest. (Higher Learning Commission, North Central Association of Colleges and Schools, 30 North LaSalle St., Suite 2400, Chicago 60602-2504. 1-800-621-7440.)

Additional accreditation or approval has been granted by such agencies as the Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction, the National Association of Schools of Music, the American Chemical Society, and other state departments of public instruction. Accreditation is also granted by the Commission on Accreditation of Athletic Training Education (CAATE).

The undergraduate major in social work prepares students for beginning professional social work practice and is fully accredited by the Council on Social Work Education.

The teacher education programs for positions in elementary/middle, secondary, and physical education are certified fully by the state of Wisconsin.

In addition to accreditation, Carthage maintains membership in the American Council on Education, Association of American Colleges, American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education, Wisconsin Association of Independent Colleges and Universities, American Association of College and University Summer Sessions, American Association of College Registrars and Admissions Officers, Association of College Admission Counselors, the American Association of University Professors, the National Association of Student Financial Aid Administrators, and the Council on Undergraduate Research. Carthage is approved by the American Association of University Women.

The Undergraduate Degree

The course of study offers sound academic preparation for advanced studies in graduate or professional schools, and for a variety of careers in business, industry, science, education, sports, music, and full-time Christian service. Similarly, the undergraduate program prepares students for medicine, engineering, government, law, social service, and theology.

Students interested in health professions focus on prerequisites for admission to particular professional schools. The following courses are prerequisites for most medical programs: one year of biology, one year of general chemistry, one year of organic chemistry, and one year of physics. Students need to become familiar with the additional prerequisites of the particular school or program to which they plan to apply.

Students may prepare for government service through a variety of majors from business administration to chemistry, economics, foreign language, geography, history, mathematics, political science, public management, physics, social science, and sociology.

Pre-law and pre-seminary students may concentrate their studies in a discipline of their choosing. While most pre-law students major in political science or history, law schools accept students with majors in other areas. Carthage recommends that, in addition to courses in their major, students take expository composition, accounting, American government, American history, Constitutional law, economics, ethics, legal theory, logic, psychology, and statistics. While most pre-seminary students major in religion, seminaries accept students with majors in other areas. All pre-seminary students are advised to take at least five courses in religion as a background for graduate study.

Criminal justice, psychology, social work and sociology majors are prepared for careers in social service as one of their options.

The Graduate Degree

Carthage also offers the Master of Education degree (M. Ed.) with concentrations in administration, language arts, social science, religion, reading, creative arts, natural science, classroom guidance and counseling, gifted and talented children, modern language, and teacher leadership.

Intercollegiate Athletics

The Department of Athletics offers an opportunity for students to participate in a wide variety of sports activities that are designed to improve each student in mind, body, and spirit. Three levels of competition exist to meet each student's needs. The highest competitive level is intercollegiate athletics for men and women. These teams consist primarily of recruited student-athletes with each program governed by the College Conference of Illinois and Wisconsin (CCIW), Midwest Lacrosse Conference, Midwest Women's Lacrosse Conference, and the Continental Men's Volleyball Conference, all governed by the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) Division III.

Men participate in 12 sports. Fall sports are cross country, football, and soccer. Winter sports are basketball, indoor track and field, and swimming. Spring sports are baseball, golf, outdoor track and field, tennis, volleyball, and lacrosse.

Women participate in 12 sports. Fall sports are cross country, golf, tennis, volleyball, and soccer. Winter sports are basketball, indoor track and field, and swimming. Spring sports are outdoor track and field, softball, water polo, and lacrosse.

The second level of competition is club sports. These programs are recreational but involve competition against club teams from other schools or community/recreational programs. These activities are open to all Carthage students and generally require some previous experience. Activities offered are ice hockey, men's and women's bowling, and men's volleyball.

The third level of competition is intramural sports. Intramural sports involve competition between Carthage students and are designed to provide exercise, fun, and social interaction. All students are encouraged to participate in these activities, which are offered throughout the academic year and include a wide range of individual and team sports. Examples of intramural activities include: basketball, flag football, racquetball, soccer, tennis, softball, and volleyball (indoor and sand).

The Director of Athletics is responsible for all of these departmental programs, and reports to the Senior Vice President for Administration and Business.

Athletic Department Philosophy

Athletic participation is an important part of the total educational process. It provides students with learning experiences in the cognitive, psychomotor, and affective domains.

Athletic Department Goals

- Provide for all students a variety of individual and team sports with appropriate leadership and coaching/teaching.
- Provide the opportunity for students to participate in amateur sports in an environment that enhances the very best in competition, sportsmanship, and ethical conduct.
- Assist students in the development of their leadership skills and teach them to serve as role models for children and others in the community.
- Promote academic achievement by recognizing NCAA Academic All-Americans, Conference All-Academic recipients, and Athletic Director's Honor Roll recipients, while strictly adhering to the NCAA and conference academic standards for participation.
- Provide safe, effective equipment and facilities to support each athlete and team.
- Make available, to men and women, fair and equitable distribution of overall athletic opportunities, benefits, and resources. The participants in both the men's and the women's sports programs should accept the overall program of the other gender as fair and equitable.
- Provide a disciplined yet humanistic environment to enhance physical, psychological, social, and emotional development and well-being.
- Recruit the best students in our region who exemplify excellence in academics, athletics, and citizenship.
- Win more than 50 percent of our intercollegiate contests. Finish in the top three of conference standings for each sport with the ultimate goal of winning the conference championship.

Student Athlete Advisory Committee

The Carthage Student Athlete Advisory Committee (SAAC) is composed of two members from each Carthage athletic team. The SAAC meets bimonthly to discuss issues that impact Carthage student-athletes at the local, conference, and national levels. Their primary emphasis is to provide leadership opportunities for athletes and teams, while conducting service and community programs on- and off-campus.

From the Carthage Student Athlete Advisory Committee, one female and one male are chosen by the students to receive the College Conference of Illinois and Wisconsin (CCIW) Merle Chapman Leadership Award. This award recognizes students who demonstrate outstanding leadership at the campus and conference levels.

Special Programs

In addition to its regular degree programs, Carthage offers coordinated dual-degree programs in engineering and occupational therapy.

Engineering

Engineering students attend Carthage for three years and, upon successful completion of the required courses with GPA conditions listed below, are assured admission to a partnering engineering school for completion of the final two years of the five-year program. Upon graduation from the engineering school, students receive the Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) degree from Carthage and the Bachelor of Science in Engineering (B.S.E.) degree from the engineering school. Participating engineering schools include:

University of Wisconsin—Madison:
College of Engineering

University of Minnesota: College of Science and Engineering

While at Carthage, engineering students must major in one of the physical sciences, mathematics, or computer science.

Acceptance into the College of Science and Engineering at Minnesota is contingent on a minimum GPA in the above required courses that, while varying with each engineering sub-field, is at least 2.8. A second program enables Carthage students to receive a Master of Engineering degree from the University of Minnesota, in addition to the B.A. degree from Carthage College, following four years at Carthage and typically two years at the College of Science and Engineering. Admission is not assured.

Scholarship students in the dual-degree program are encouraged to apply to the engineering schools for continuing scholarship support. Contact the coordinator of the Carthage Dual-Degree Program in Engineering for more information.

Occupational Therapy

Students interested in the dual-degree program with Washington University in St. Louis attend Carthage for three years and, upon successful completion of Carthage's degree requirements for graduation and Washington University's prerequisites, apply for admission by Jan. 31 to the program in occupational therapy at Washington University.

Students who complete the program receive a Bachelor of Arts degree from Carthage and a Master of Science in occupational therapy (MSOT) degree from Washington University. At Carthage, students choose the major they prefer, but during their three years at Carthage, they must complete prerequisite courses for admission to the occupational therapy program at Washington University, including: 1) upper level, 2000 or higher, biology course, 2) human physiology, 3) one other course in the physical sciences, 4) developmental psychology, from child to adolescence through adulthood, 5) one additional class in the social sciences, and 6) statistics. Proficiency in medical terminology and computer competency is expected.

Applicants interested in occupational therapy programs at schools other than Washington University should examine the current catalog of the appropriate school to determine specific admission requirements.

Degree Requirements

The general education requirements seek to provide a broad base of knowledge in the liberal arts and sciences that enable students to construct a coherent framework for ongoing intellectual, ethical, and aesthetic growth. These requirements are designed to develop lifelong competencies, such as critical and creative thinking, written and oral communication, quantitative reasoning, problem-solving, and the capability to work independently and collaboratively.

To earn a Bachelor of Arts degree from Carthage, a student must satisfy the following requirements:

Successfully complete 138 credits, including:

1. Heritage Studies

COR 1100 Western Heritage I (WI) 4 cr.

COR 1110 Western Heritage II (WI) 4 cr.

Global Heritage (GH) 4 cr.

Western Heritage I should be taken Fall term of freshman year, Western Heritage II should be taken Spring term of freshman year. Course descriptions for both classes can be found under Interdisciplinary Studies: Heritage Studies.

2. Religion
Understandings of Religion 1000 4 cr.
One additional religion course designated as (REL). 4 cr.

3. Modern Languages 8 cr.
Successful completion of Chinese, French, German, Greek, Japanese, Latin, or Spanish 1020 or placement above 1020 by the respective department. In addition students may fulfill their language requirement by taking courses in Italian given at UW-Parkside.

All students will complete one Carthage Symposium, typically taken during the sophomore or junior year. One goal of the College is for graduates to be able to make connections between disciplines. The Carthage Symposium requirement can be satisfied by either one course (4 credits) or a set of two linked courses (usually 8 credits) that provide an interdisciplinary learning experience. These offerings are team-taught by two instructors from different departments, most frequently from different academic divisions. All Symposia are completed within one academic term. The Carthage Symposium creates a community of learners among the students and two faculty members.

7. Senior Thesis
As part of their major, all students will complete a Senior Thesis. This can be in the form of a written thesis, laboratory research, music recital, art exhibit, or other significant and integrative experience appropriate to their major. Students graduating with more than one major must complete a senior thesis for each major or one integrative senior thesis approved by each major department or program.

Students must check with the department chair for specific details in regard to completion of the senior thesis.

Social Science (SOC) 4 cr.

10. Minor

Minors are optional unless specified as a requirement for the major. Minors may be pursued through electives and through general requirements. The minor is a minimum of 20 credits and a maximum of 24 credits. Those planning to obtain teacher licensure must consult with the College certification officer. Students must complete a minimum of 12 credits in the minor at Carthage.

11. Electives

Electives allow students to explore their intellectual interests in a wide variety of disciplines and areas of knowledge.

12. J-Term

13. Writing Across the Curriculum

Writing well is a powerful life skill, and Carthage is committed to teaching its students to write well in all disciplines. All students are therefore required to take a total of four courses (four credit hours each) that are designated Writing Intensive (WI). The first two of these courses are COR 1100 Western Heritage I and COR 1110 Western Heritage II. Of the remaining two courses, one must be in the academic major of the student's choice, while the other course may be any WI course in the curriculum. If students are completing more than one major, they only need one WI course in one of the majors that they are completing.

WAC distributes the teaching of writing throughout the curriculum. Under WAC, writing is taught at all levels and by all departments. WAC affirms that writing well is an essential skill, one that needs to be cultivated continually.

Each student must take COR 1100 Western Heritage I and COR 1110 Western Heritage II, and two other WI courses before graduation, as spelled out in Degree Requirements. Writing Intensive courses vary according to the discipline in which they are taught, but they all share the following criteria:

1. Formal and informal writing are used to help students learn the content of the course.
2. Students and professors work together to improve student writing. For example, professors may review and provide advice on theses, writing plans, and drafts as the students write them. Professors may assign several short papers and suggest methods for revision in between. Professors may confer with students between papers. Professors may model writing and monitor students' subsequent experiments with similar writing.
3. Writing contributes significantly to each student's course grade.
4. The course requires students to do a substantial amount of writing. This may include formal or informal writing. Depending on the course content, students may write analytic essays, critical reviews, journals, literature reviews, lab reports, research reports, reaction papers, or other similar assignments.

14. Additional Requirements

- Achieve a final grade point average of 2.0 in the major and minor, and in all course work at Carthage.
- Finish the last 32 credits in residence, or petition to finish work in absentia.
- File an application for graduation in the Fall Term of the academic year in which requirements will be completed.
- Participate in the Baccalaureate and Commencement exercises held annually at the end of the Spring Term, unless excused by the Registrar. An undergraduate student who has twelve (12) credit hours or less to complete graduation requirements may participate in the Commencement exercises. If there are outstanding credits, the student will be able to participate in the following May ceremony. The diploma will be issued when the student completes the requirements for the remaining credits.

Students are subject to the regulations contained in the annual college catalog in effect when they enter Carthage. Students may, however, petition to follow regulations contained in the most current issue of the college catalog. Students who interrupt schooling for more than one academic year forfeit the right to follow the regulations in the college catalog of their original year of entry.

Program of Study

Full-time students may register for 12-17 credits during the 14-week terms. Students in good academic standing may register for up to 18 credits. There is an additional charge for registration in excess of 18 credits. Students wishing to register for more than 18 credits must obtain approval for the overload from the Subcommittee for Academic Review and Recommendation no later than the last day to add a regular course.

Many courses are not taught every term. Most course descriptions in this catalog indicate the terms in which departments intend to offer courses. This schedule information is an aid to planning, but the College reserves the right to revise such course plans in response to changes in student interest, enrollment demand, and staff availability.

Courses primarily designed for freshmen are numbered 1000 to 1990; those for sophomores and juniors are numbered 2000 to 3990; those for seniors are numbered 4000 to 4990.

Freshman	0 - 31 credits
Junior	68 - 101 credits

Grading System

The College maintains progress records that are furnished to students on a regular basis. At the completion of a course, each student is assigned a letter symbol: "A," "A-," "B+," "B," "B-," "C+," "C," "C-," "D+," "D," "D-," "S" and "P" for passing grades; "I" for incomplete, which is given only in special cases of illness or some other uncontrollable factor; "W" for official withdrawal; "U" for unsatisfactory; and "F" for failure or unofficial withdrawal. A student who has received an "I" must finish the incomplete work within 30 days following the end of the term in which it was received, or the grade will be recorded as an "F."

Letter grades convert into the following point system for determining cumulative grade point average i.e.: an "A" is worth four points per credit.

A	4.00
B+	3.33
B	3.00
B-	2.67
C+	2.33
C	2.00
C-	1.67
D+	1.33
D	1.00
D-	.67
F	No points

Grades of "P", "S", and "U" do not affect the grade point average.

Auditing Courses:

A student who wishes to audit a course must seek the permission of the instructor and file a report with the Registrar's Office by the add deadline for the term. There is an additional fee for students wishing to take a course as an Audit.

Repeating Courses:

Only courses with a grade of "C-" or lower may be repeated. When a course is repeated, the earlier grade remains on the student's transcript, but the new grade is factored into the cumulative GPA and the old grade is removed from the calculation. On multiple attempts the most recent grade will be used in computing the cumulative grade point average.

If a student is repeating a Carthage course for the purpose of replacing the earlier grade, the repeat must be with a course in class at Carthage. A repeated course may not be by correspondence study, by independent study, or by study at another institution.

Add/Drop Policy

No student is permitted to add or drop a course after the deadline. Any course changes after the add/drop deadline date must be made with the permission of the Subcommittee for Academic Review and Recommendation.

A student may withdraw from a course after the add/drop deadline. (Please refer to the academic calendar for specific dates.) The course will show on the student's transcript with a "W".

Students who wish to completely withdraw from the College must secure a withdrawal form from the Registrar. If students withdraw within the first nine weeks of the term, they receive a “W” in each course. Exceptions must be authorized by the Subcommittee for Academic Review and Recommendation or by the Dean of the College. Any student who does not complete all steps in official withdrawal is assigned an “F” in all courses.

Students may not receive credit from any course in which they are not properly registered. Responsibility for proper registration rests with the student. The student is also held responsible for observing the requirements of the degree and the proper sequence of courses.

The student accepts responsibility for class attendance. Since there is no college-wide attendance policy, instructors determine their own class-attendance policy.

Pass-Fail Option

The College permits students to elect up to two courses on the pass-fail (“P” or “F”) grading system, subject to the following conditions:

1. The student must have achieved junior or senior standing.
2. A student may not register for more than one pass-fail course during a term.
3. A student may not enroll for a final grade of “P” or “F” in:
  - Any course used to satisfy the general education requirements.
  - Any course required for your major or minor programs (including any course in related fields) or offered by the major department, except those courses designated in the catalog as pass-fail courses.
4. A student at the time of registration will indicate the course to be taken for a final grade of “P” or “F”; this information will reside with the student, the advisor, and the Registrar; the course instructor will be informed at the end of the term.
5. To receive a “P” grade for a course graded pass-fail, the student must receive a letter grade of “D-” or better. The “P” grade does not calculate into the GPA; however, if the student receives an “F” for the course, it does calculate like a regular “F” into the grade point average.

After the last day to drop courses, students who register for grades of “P” or “F” will not be permitted to change that registration in order to receive regular grades; nor will students who register for regular grades be permitted to change that registration in order to receive pass-fail grades.

Examination for Credit

An enrolled student may challenge most courses by examination, but credit is prohibited in courses that the student has audited previously or attended officially or unofficially. Students may not challenge fieldwork, field placements, or student teaching courses by examination. Students should contact the chairperson of the department to make arrangements for an examination.

A grade of “C” or better on the examination is required to excuse the student from the course and to give credit toward graduation. The cumulative grade point average is not changed by the examination because no grade is recorded for a course completed in this manner.

There is no tuition charge for courses earned through examination. However, an administrative fee is assessed. A maximum of 32 credits may be earned by examination for credit.

Transfer/Correspondence Courses

A student enrolled at Carthage who wishes to apply transfer or correspondence courses taken elsewhere to Carthage must secure advance approval from the involved department chairperson and the Registrar by the end of term prior to enrollment in the course.

Upon receipt of an official transcript from institutions accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and similar regional associations, appropriate value will be given for comparable courses or areas taught at Carthage.

Courses at other institutions are counted as part of a student’s term load.

Credit will only be transferred for courses in which a grade of “C-” or better is earned.

Credit will not be transferred from a junior college after a student has accumulated 68 credits.

College-level courses taken in high school are credited on the same basis as other transfer credits, provided that the courses have not been counted for entrance requirements. These courses must appear on a college transcript.

The maximum total credits allowed for specialized testing (CLEP) and correspondence courses is 32.

Transcripts from institutions outside of the United States must be evaluated by Educational Credential Evaluators, Inc. (ECE).

Midterm Evaluation

At the midpoint of each term, all faculty members are asked by the Dean of the College to submit midterm low-grade reports for all students doing “D” or “F” work. Reports are distributed through the Registrar’s Office to the students and their advisors.

If a student receives two or more reports, the student’s parents also will be informed unless the student is financially independent. Financially independent students must bring proof of their independence to the Office of Student Financial Planning at the beginning of the academic year. Students who have not shown proof of their independence are assumed to be financially dependent on their parents.

Academic Standards

Students are required to have a minimum of a 2.0 grade point average overall and in their major(s)/minor(s) in order to graduate from the College. Students with a 2.0 or above are in good academic standing. The records of students who are not in good standing are reviewed at the end of each term by the Subcommittee for Academic Review and Recommendation.

Grade Point Average

Academic standing will be evaluated with the help of the following guidelines, based on the number of credit hours attempted at Carthage plus all credit hours transferred into Carthage.

Attempted Credits	Probation	Dismissal
12- 16	1.0- 1.99	.999 or below
17- 36	1.2- 1.99	1.199 or below
37- 56	1.4- 1.99	1.399 or below
57- 72	1.6- 1.99	1.599 or below
73- 86	1.8- 1.99	1.799 or below
87+		1.999 or below

Students whose cumulative average, for the first time, falls below the required minimum for dismissal, or who have been on academic probation for three consecutive terms, are placed in a show cause category. The student is contacted to show cause why he or she should not be dismissed from the College. If there is cause for the student to be allowed to continue, he or she will be placed/continued on probation.

Students placed on probation are required to cooperate with the advising services. At the end of the term, the Provost will meet with the Subcommittee for Academic Review and Recommendation to determine whether the student has satisfactorily fulfilled the obligations of the support programs. At that time the Subcommittee for Academic Review and Recommendation will make a decision to dismiss the student from the College or allow the student to stay another term.

Students who disagree with a Subcommittee for Academic Review and Recommendation decision may petition the committee for review.

Readmission after Dismissal

Students who have been academically dismissed from Carthage College will be given the opportunity to reapply for admission. All academically dismissed students will be sent a letter at the time of dismissal indicating the specific conditions that must be met in order to be considered for readmission. Applications for readmission will be carefully reviewed by the Subcommittee for Academic Review and Recommendation. Admission back into the College is not guaranteed

Readmission after Withdrawal

Students who have previously attended Carthage College and have subsequently officially or unofficially withdrawn will be given the opportunity to reapply for admission. A student is considered as a withdrawn student if consecutive registrations are not maintained. All requests for admission back into the College should be directed to the Admissions Office for review. Applications will be given careful consideration for reinstatement. Readmission into the College is not guaranteed.

Disciplinary Actions

If a student is dismissed from the College for disciplinary reasons, a grade of “W” (withdrawal) is recorded for each course, and notation of the dismissal for disciplinary reasons is made on his or her official college record.

If a student is suspended for disciplinary reasons, the period of suspension shall not prohibit the student from completing the term in the prescribed time. Faculty members have the option of providing suspended students the opportunity to make up missed course requirements.

Veterans Administration Standards of Progress

Students attending Carthage and receiving educational benefits from the Veterans Administration must maintain satisfactory standing and adequate progress in order to continue receiving benefits. Under certain circumstances, a student might be permitted to continue study at Carthage, but would fail to qualify for payment of educational benefits.

These include:

- Failure of all courses during a term in which the student is registered for two or more courses.
- Withdrawal from all courses after the midpoint of a term in which the student is registered for two or more courses.
- Failure to achieve a grade point average of 2.0 or above for any term during which the student is on academic probation. A student may continue on academic probation and receive benefits provided the grade point average for courses taken each term is 2.0 or above.
- Appeal from a determination that a student is not making satisfactory progress and for reinstatement of aid will be directed to the Subcommittee for Academic Review and Recommendation.

Academic Honesty Policy

Academic honesty is a necessary corollary to academic freedom; each concept presupposes the other. The goals and objectives of Carthage fall within the implicit context of academic honesty. Therefore, Carthage expects academic honesty from all of its members and maintains college-wide honesty guidelines and penalties that must be supported by the whole academic community. The guidelines and penalties are found in the Faculty Handbook and Students' Handbook.

Advising

The First-Year Advising staff, located in the Center for Student Success, provides support to all incoming students. Professional advisors help students enhance academic potential, improve interpersonal relationships, increase self-understanding, and explore vocational and educational goals. First-Year Advisors are responsible for each student's academic advising needs and are available for counseling in all areas of college life.

Seniors, juniors, and sophomores who have declared a major are advised by a faculty member in that major. First-year students have the opportunity to move to a faculty advisor over the course of their first year at Carthage. Although the First-Year Advisor will no longer be their primary point of contact when they transfer over to a faculty advisor, students will always be able to utilize their First-Year Advisors by going to the Center for Student Success.

Along with the scheduling of classes, advisors help students improve the quality of their academic performance. They are available to discuss the role of co-curricular and extra-curricular activities, and to work with students to create long-term academic and career plans.

Support for Students with Disabilities

Support will be arranged for students with documented disabilities including learning disabilities, attention disorders, and physical and psychological disabilities. Students who do not have current documentation or suspect they may have a learning disability may arrange for evaluation services. Students are responsible for contacting the Center for Student Success and providing current (within three years) documentation. In compliance with Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, and the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, Carthage is committed to achieving equal educational opportunities and full participation for people with disabilities. The Center for Student Success is located in the Office of Student Life, in the Todd Wehr Center.

Academic Resources

Brainard Writing Center

Located on the upper level of the Hedberg Library, the Brainard Writing Center is open to all members of the Carthage community. The Center is certified by the College Reading and Learning Association, and student writing fellows, who have completed a stringent training program, provide assistance for students at any stage of the writing process. Students from all majors and at all levels of writing ability are welcome. Regular weekly tutoring sessions are also available. Although students may drop in, appointments are strongly recommended.

Supplemental Instruction

Supplemental Instruction is a nationally recognized program designed to increase student academic performance. Upper-class students attend class and facilitate discussion/review sessions. Participation in the program allows students to be more active in their learning process.

Writing Center Online

The Writing Center also provides an online tutoring service. Students submit drafts and questions via the Internet and receive a detailed response within three business days. Those wishing to register for the service should contact the Writing Center for details.

Tutoring

Tutors are students trained and recommended by academic departments. They are available upon request for all scheduled courses.

January Term

January Term offers students a variety of opportunities not always available during Spring and Fall terms. On-campus courses include those especially created for J-Term as well as regular-term courses, some of which may satisfy distribution requirements or other general education credits. Students register for one course only, allowing them to concentrate study in one subject.

J-Term also provides off-campus opportunities, such as travel to other parts of the country and abroad, as well as hands-on experience through field placement internships. Students also may propose an independent study project under the direction of a faculty member. In addition to these courses, students may propose their own specially arranged placements through the Career Services office.

On-campus courses and independent studies are graded, unless otherwise indicated in the J-Term Catalog, and the grade is computed in the student's grade point average. Specially-designed J-Term courses are usually graded but may be offered as pass-fail. If pass-fail, the course cannot be taken for a letter grade. Field placements and some off-campus study tours receive grades "S" or "U" and do not affect a student's grade point average. Other off-campus study tours are graded.

Students must consult with their academic advisors to select their J-Term course.

Students taking an on-campus course and living in residence halls pay no additional room and board for the J-Term. This is limited to full-time residential students registered for either the Fall or Spring terms. Some J-Term courses require an additional fee to cover cost of travel and other course activities; payment of these nonrefundable fees is due at registration.

All students must successfully complete a J-Term course during their freshman year, and one additional year.

Career Services

Carthage Career Services is the primary campus resource for students and alumni making career choices, developing careers, and seeking employment while in school or after graduation. Career services include career counseling, interest and ability assessment and interpretation, internship and job search assistance, on-campus interviewing, career development workshops, and guidance with graduate school selection and application.

Career Services helps students find paid and unpaid internships, summer and part-time employment, and prepare for the seasonal visits of national and regional employers who interview students on campus. Carthage alumni actively coach students in employment preparation by reviewing resumes, helping students practice interviewing, and providing informational interviews.

Career Services also administers the ACT and Miller's Analogy tests several times a year. Career Services and its resource library are located on the top floor of Lentz Hall. Carthage Career Services is a member of the Wisconsin Association of Colleges and Employers and the National Association of Colleges and Employers.

International Study Abroad

The Study Abroad advisor assists interested Carthage students identify, plan, and prepare for a study abroad experience. Approved earned credits are accepted toward the degree. Carthage has special affiliations with several institutions; however, participation in other programs also may be approved.

GNRL 3510 Immersion Abroad 12-16 cr.
Linguistic and/or cultural immersion abroad for one or more terms in an academic setting. (In exceptional cases, approval may be granted for substituting two summers for the term.)

Prerequisite for applying study abroad to the major in any modern language: MLA 2200, 3010, 3110, and either 3080, or 3090, or permission of the chair of the Department of Modern Languages.

Individual Study

The College believes opportunities should be provided for students to study, with a large degree of self-direction, in areas beyond the normal course offerings of the departments. To this end, the following course is available at the discretion of, and under the direction of, the departments:

4500 Independent Study 1-4 credits
In this course, a student or a group of students study or read widely in a field of special interest. It is understood that this course will not duplicate any other course regularly offered in the curriculum, and that the student will work in this course as independently as the teacher thinks possible. Prior to registration the student should consult the teacher (or teachers) whose field of competency encompasses the student's subject and who will supervise the work; the student and the teacher(s) will decide the title to be reported, and the nature of the examination or term paper, and will discuss the preparation of a bibliography and a plan of coherent study.

All students must obtain final approval of the department before registration. In the case of interdisciplinary study, the approval of all cooperating departments must be secured. Two independent study courses may not be taken concurrently.

Specially Arranged Courses

Under extenuating circumstances, catalog courses may be arranged with both the department and instructor approval. Specially arranged courses may not be offered to fulfill the Writing Intensive, Global Heritage, or Carthage Symposium graduation requirements.

Self-Designed Major/Minor

The faculty has provided an opportunity for students with special interests to design their own major/minor programs. Specialized major/minor programs must consist of existing courses. Proposals should be thoughtfully prepared in consultation with a faculty advisor and the department chairperson whose course offerings will be included in the major. A complete proposal must be submitted to the Curriculum Planning Committee for approval before the student has achieved senior standing.

Topics Courses

200T Topics 1-4 credits
A course of variable content for lower-level students. Topics will not duplicate material covered in any other course.

400T Topics 1-4 credits
A course of variable content for upper-level students. Topics will not duplicate material covered in any other course.

Field Placements/ Internships

The field placement and internship programs provide students with meaningful work experiences that either directly relate to their career objectives, or assist in determining those objectives. The central feature of the programs is the opportunity for significant interaction between students' work experiences and their academic programs.

The following policies shall govern field placement and internships during the regular term:

1. The student may register for up to eight hours of field placement or internship per term. He or she may count up to 12 hours of field placement or internship toward graduation including J-Term field placement or internship credits but excluding student teaching. Credits earned in departmental offerings involving field work, such as Parish Service, and Field Instruction and Methods in Social Work, are to be included in these limits. Field placement may not be substituted for student teaching.
2. Field placements are open to juniors and seniors in good standing who receive the approval of the supervising faculty member and the appropriate department chairperson or program director. Internships are open to all students with the approval of the supervising faculty member and Career Services.

- For field placements, attendance at a regularly held on-campus seminar conducted by the instructor is expected.
- A minimum of four hours of on-the-job activity shall be spent per week for 1 credit. For 2-8 credits, a minimum of two hours of on-the-job activity shall be spent per week for each credit.
- The instructor will take into account the evaluations of the on-the-job supervisor, grading placements on an "A" to "F" scale. Internships in J-Term are normally pass-fail.

Departments will have discretion in the determination of prerequisites, whether or not field placement may be counted toward the major, whether or not it is required for the major, and how many hours are necessary. Departments may establish guidelines in addition to these listed.

3500 Field Placement 2-8 credits

A field placement enables the student to explore a possible career, and to work in an individual, academically-oriented position designed to supplement or complement the student's academic experience. All field placements require faculty supervision and regular meetings between the student and the instructor. Field placements are offered by various academic departments.

3550 Internship 1-8 credits

An internship enables the student to gain practical experience in his or her field of study. All internships require faculty supervision and regular meetings between the student and the instructor. No further credit will be given for internships in subsequent terms in the same placement. All internships must be arranged through Career Services.

Adult Education

Carthage Adult Education offers programs of study for busy adults to enhance their careers and personal and professional development. Part-time students can earn a bachelor's degree in a variety of majors, advance their career with a graduate degree, or enroll in classes that continue their education or professional development and augment their current skills and experiences.

Adult Education enrolls students who wish to attend Carthage on a part-time basis who are otherwise unable to obtain a college degree during the day because of career and family responsibilities.

Adult Education classes are offered in the evenings and during the summer to accommodate the busy schedules of adult students.

Adult students come from diverse backgrounds, manage multiple roles, and actively participate in their own academic awareness, achievement, and career potential, comprising a cohesive and significant group of students on campus.

7-Week Format

The 7-week format offered at Carthage is designed for qualified part-time learners who wish to earn a Carthage degree in the evenings. The 7-week format offers an alternative to the traditional semester format for part-time students. Classes in the 7-week format begin seven times each year in the fall, winter, spring, and summer. Interested students may begin classes at any time during the year. Most classes meet for three hours, one night a week.

To apply for admission to the Carthage Adult Education program, interested students need to complete the following steps:

- Submit an Adult Education application form accompanied by a nonrefundable $10 application fee.
- Request official transcripts from all previously attended colleges, universities and/or equivalent college programs (i.e. military service, CLEP/DANTES test results). Official transcripts should be sent directly to:
Carthage Adult Education
2001 Alford Park Drive
Kenosha, WI 53140-1994
- Schedule a required interview with an Adult Education Admissions Representative to review transfer work.

7-week courses fulfill accounting, business management, computer science, criminal justice, education, marketing, religion, general education, and elective requirements. Coursework may entail individual reading, writing, research, and occasional group work with fellow students.

Adult students enroll in the 7-week format:

- To complete a Bachelor of Arts degree in accounting, business management, computer science, criminal justice, education, marketing, or religion.
- To fulfill general education requirements and electives as a part of other Carthage majors (i.e., social work).
- To review and prepare for graduate school.
- To complete a second major.
- To enrich an area of interest.
- To complete classes at times convenient to work and personal schedules.

Summer Program

The Summer Program at Carthage meets the needs of day and evening students. There are two sessions during the summer: Summer I and Summer II (Evening). Summer classes are open to high school students, college students from other institutions, Carthage students, teachers, and other professionals.

GNR 0001 Elements of College Learning

This 2-credit course is designed to prepare first-time and returning adult students for the expectations and demands of attending Carthage. Topics address the theory and practice of college-level study skills including critical reading and thinking, note-taking, reading rate and preparation, use of Carthage resources, stress management, and time management. Students will apply these techniques directly to their coursework as they adjust to their new role as degree-seeking students at Carthage.

Advanced Licensing as a Principal

The Education Administration Program was developed by a team of administrators from Kenosha Unified School District, Racine Unified School District, other surrounding schools, and members of the Carthage Education Department. The administration concentration prepares educators for leadership roles as building principals in the K-12 setting. The coursework focuses on site-based management, school law, school finance, and leadership development. Eligible candidates must hold a valid education license or be licensed as a school counselor, school psychologist, or a school social worker; have at least three years experience in these areas; and evidence of at least 540 hours of successful classroom teaching experience. The program's capstone course is the seminar and practicum in field experience as a principal, which will be the foundation for the master's thesis. The program can be completed in two years by taking two courses per term. Students who already possess a master's degree and wish to gain the #51 license will need to complete the required courses only. No culminating experience or research courses will be required. For more information, contact the Office of Adult Education.

Accelerated Certification Program (ACT) for Teachers

The Accelerated Certification Program for Teachers (ACT) program prepares highly qualified individuals to serve as Wisconsin public school teachers. Developed in collaboration with a team of educators, this 14-month program delivers specific professional staff development through summer coursework, combined with a year-long clinical experience serving in a participating secondary school.

The program is dedicated to high standards and is reflected in the admissions and course requirements. To be considered for admission to the ACT Program, candidates should:

- Be currently employed (or will be employed) by a sponsoring school district or be eligible to student teach.
- Receive admission to the Carthage Education program by providing evidence of:
  - 3.0 GPA in all courses taken in the area of licensure.
  - A record demonstrating the completion of a bachelor's or advanced degree from an accredited institution.
  - Passing the Praxis I Basic Skills Test (Reading, Writing, and Math).
  - Passing the appropriate Praxis II content test for the area of licensure.
  - Meet requirements for admission to the Carthage Graduate Program.

ACT courses fulfill teacher licensing requirements by the state of Wisconsin and for the Master of Education degree. Students complete licensing requirements beginning with coursework taken during the summer, followed by a year-long clinical experience as the teacher of record in a school district and evening/weekend coursework, and ending with a second summer of coursework. After completion of the teacher licensing requirements, graduate candidates can complete the required courses for the Master of Education degree. For more information, contact the Office of Adult Education.

Master of Education Program (M. Ed.) Program

The Master of Education program, first accredited by the North Central Association in July 1975, addresses the specific needs of teachers in the community by furthering their general education or providing intensive study in a particular academic area. Concentrations are offered in broad areas that include administration, language arts, social science, religion, reading, creative arts, natural science, classroom guidance and counseling, English language learners (ELL), gifted and talented children, modern language, and teacher leadership. This program is an extension of Carthage's dedication to the liberal arts. The program is offered in the evenings and during the summer.

Working with an advisor assigned by the Director of the Graduate Program, the student establishes a program of study. The program is then approved by two advisory committee members, followed by the approval of the Director of the Graduate Program.

Each program requires a minimum of 36 credits, and successful completion of either a thesis or comprehensive exam. Required courses include Foundations of Education, Quantitative Research, and Qualitative Research. The remaining courses are selected from curricular offerings in the academic subject area. With approval, students who intend to write a thesis may take EDU 5500 Master's Thesis in addition to, or in the place of, one of the courses. EDU 5490, the project option, may also be taken as a culminating experience.

Requirements for admission into the M.Ed. Program are a bachelor's degree, a valid teaching license, and successful completion of the Miller Analogies Test (MAT). Further information about the program may be obtained by contacting the Office of Adult Education.

Advanced Licensing as a Reading Teacher or Reading Specialist

Carthage offers a Graduate Reading Program for the following:

1. Students with a Wisconsin teaching license who are seeking a master's degree in education. A program may be designed so that the individual may complete the Master of Education Program at Carthage and be eligible for Wisconsin licensure as a reading teacher and reading specialist (#316 and #17). Programs of study must be planned well in advance to accomplish this objective.
2. Students with a current Wisconsin teaching license based on a bachelor's degree, who are seeking a reading teacher license.
3. Students holding a master's degree, a current Wisconsin teaching license, and a current Wisconsin reading teacher license, who are seeking a reading specialist license.
4. Teachers seeking reading teacher and/or reading specialist licensure must schedule an interview with the Director of the Graduate Program and the Director of the Reading Program. Out-of-state students will find that the Graduate Reading Program at Carthage usually reciprocates other states' requirements for similar reading certification programs.

For more information, contact the Office of Adult Education.

Professional Development

Carthage's Adult Education Program offers professional development opportunities including continuing education for teachers, personal enrichment, and a paralegal program.

Enrichment and Continuing Education

The Enrichment and Continuing Education Program is designed to meet the needs, concerns, and interests facing people in today's society. ### Division of Interdisciplinary Studies

The Division of Interdisciplinary Studies includes programs that support rigorous inquiry that transcends, cuts across, or combines traditional academic disciplines. The Interdisciplinary Studies Division comprises the Western Heritage and Global Heritage programs as well as Carthage Symposium, which are required of all Carthage students; the Honors Program for students of outstanding achievement; and majors or minors in Asian Studies, Great Ideas: Intellectual Foundations of the West, and Women's/Gender Studies for students wishing to pursue in-depth important questions that fall outside conventional disciplinary boundaries.

Before, during, and after the selection of their major courses of study, students are whole human beings. Carthage acknowledges and seeks to cultivate that wholeness by means of the Western Heritage sequence which introduces first-year students to fundamental questions of human life through rigorous study of key texts in Western thought and develops the essential abilities to think, read, write, and speak effectively. In addition, since living responsibly and functioning effectively in our increasingly interconnected world requires understanding alternative worldviews, the Global Heritage requirement ensures that every Carthage student takes at least one course on a cultural tradition with substantial non-Western roots. Finally, the Carthage Symposium enables students to make connections between disciplines.

Individual programs of study in the Interdisciplinary Studies Division draw on traditional disciplines at the same time that they inquire into or challenge the limits of those disciplines. Asian Studies is thoroughly interdisciplinary in that it draws courses from three academic divisions and six departments to provide a broad and deep understanding of Asia. Great Ideas: Intellectual Foundations of the West inquires into the very foundations of Western thought and therefore into the origins of the disciplinary frameworks that determine all other academic study. Women's/Gender Studies is a cross-disciplinary course of study that addresses the way gender functions in society while at the same time seeking to fill lacunae in all of the traditional disciplines where women have been omitted.

These individual programs of study are described in detail under Academic Departments and Programs of Study. Western Heritage, Global Heritage, the Carthage

Symposium, and the Honors Program are described below.

Western Heritage Program

Carthage students take two seminar courses called Western Heritage. The goal of the program is to introduce students to a true liberal arts education through discussing and writing about key texts from the Greek and Roman worlds through the Renaissance and into our modern era. The yearlong seminar sequence uses a chronological approach and is taught collaboratively by faculty from academic departments and programs across disciplines.

The West marks an intellectual tradition of active dialogue among literary, scientific, philosophical, political, and spiritual thinkers, ancient and modern, who have seen themselves as part of a shared intellectual tradition. A premise of the Western Heritage courses is that this dialogue has always contained contention and debate, and that students can themselves participate in this ongoing intellectual journey.

As a community of learners, students and faculty critically engage in this dialogue, contained in seminal works in the arts and humanities (including drama, philosophy, literature, spirituality, and history), in the social sciences (including political and economic thought), and in the natural sciences. In Western Heritage seminars students are called upon to discuss intensely, write engagingly, and articulate clearly their thoughts through critical essays and conversations in dialogue with one another and with the texts of the course.

Please consult the Western Heritage website for further information about the program and its goals and objectives:

<http://www.carthage.edu/western-heritage>

Conditions:

1. Because of the seminar nature of Western Heritage, no student (day, evening, or Adult Education) may take the course as an independent study;
2. Consistent attendance and participation are required of all students in Western Heritage;
3. Students who fail the first Western Heritage seminar may not advance to the second seminar in the sequence.

COR 1100 The Intellectual History of Western Heritage I (WI) 4 credits

In Western Heritage I, key texts are used to illustrate how themes and ideas develop over the course of Western philosophy, political thought, spirituality, science, and literature. Texts are read and discussed in seminar with a sense of chronology to reveal how thinkers over time have borrowed from, adapted, and challenged ideas from preceding generations. Course themes may include Justice, Love, Happiness, the One and the Many, Order and Disorder, or Faith and Reason. Students will examine course texts in relation to this theme through commentary provided in the Western Heritage Guide, supplemented from time to time with field trips, guest speakers, and experts on campus.

COR 1110 The Intellectual History of Western Heritage II (WI) 4 credits

As a continuation of Western Heritage I, course seminars develop the semester-long conversation begun in the fall, where the ideas of the ancient world come to be read against the emerging intellectual worlds of the Renaissance, Enlightenment, and our modern era. As the range and treatment of ideas from different fields and time periods proceeds, the course draws together the divergent strands that compose the complex history of Western thought. Students continue to examine course texts in relation to the theme through commentary provided in the Western Heritage Guide, supplemented from time to time with field trips, guest speakers, and experts on campus.

Global Heritage Program (GH)

While Western Heritage I and II cover the roots of European cultural traditions, Global Heritage courses explore cultures and civilizations with substantial non-European elements. The Global Heritage requirement includes courses that seek to encounter and understand an alternate worldview. All Global Heritage courses not only seek to explore the culture or civilization being studied, but also to enable our students to understand cultural difference whether while traveling abroad, or in our own increasingly plural nation.

The Global Heritage requirement can be completed by courses taken either on campus or through off-campus study. In either case, courses satisfying this requirement are approved by the Global Heritage Oversight Committee and are so designated in the course schedule.

Carthage Symposium (CS)

All students will complete one Carthage Symposium, typically taken during the sophomore or junior year. One goal of the College is for our graduates to be able to make connections between disciplines. The Carthage Symposium requirement can be satisfied by either one course (4 credits) or a set of two linked courses (usually 8 credits) that provide an interdisciplinary learning experience. These offerings are team-taught by two instructors from different departments, most frequently from different academic divisions. All Symposia are completed within one academic term. The Carthage Symposium creates a community of learners among the students and two faculty.

Honors Program

Honors Carthage Symposium

Honors students may arrange Honors Contracts (see below) in any appropriate Carthage Symposium. Occasionally, Carthage Symposia may be designated specifically for Honors students.

Overview

The Honors Program is a program within the Interdisciplinary Studies Division, through which Carthage offers enhanced educational opportunities to students with outstanding achievement and promise. Honors Program goals include:

1. Cultivating and retaining students with exceptional promise, motivating them to take leadership roles inside and outside the classroom, and enriching their entire instructional and co-curricular careers as learners at Carthage and beyond;
2. Enhanced instructional experiences and opportunities for developing and delivering new courses;
3. Encouraging creative cooperation between students and faculty as they engage in scholarly activities together;
4. Strengthening the scholarly profile of the institution as a whole.

Admission to the Carthage Honors Program

The Honors Program admits only approximately 10 percent of the class entering Carthage each year. Generally, these students enter the Honors Program through an honors section of Western Heritage I (COR 1100). However, we also actively recruit highly talented and motivated students who have completed at least 16 credits of balanced course work (at Carthage and elsewhere). These students may enter the Honors Program in the second term of their first year or as sophomores. While it is rare for students to complete the entire Honors curriculum when entering the program after their sophomore year, interested students should discuss their options with the Director of Honors.

The following norms for admission to the Honors Program are offered only as guidelines. Highly motivated and ambitious students who do not meet particular criteria are encouraged to apply for consideration through the Director of Honors.

Incoming First-Year Students

Highest priority will be given to students who present outstanding high school credentials (e.g., ACT scores, G.P.A., class rank) and/or excel in Carthage's competitive scholarship competitions. Additional students will be invited to apply and will be considered for admission to an Honors section of Western Heritage or another Honors course.

Transfer Students

Individuals admitted to the Honors Program as new transfer students typically have maintained at least a 3.25 college GPA, have demonstrated excellence in one or more courses, have been recommended for the Honors Program by the Vice President for Enrollment (or designated representative), and have been interviewed by the Director of Honors.

Continuing Students

Students admitted to the Honors Program during their first or second year of study at Carthage typically have maintained at least a 3.25 Carthage GPA, have demonstrated excellence in one or more courses, have been recommended for the Honors Program by one or more instructors, and have been interviewed by the Director of Honors. They also may be asked to complete a brief written application.

Courses

Honors Western Heritage I and Honors Western Heritage II

4250 Honors Senior Colloquium

4 credits

Variable content. An interdisciplinary colloquium designed to provide opportunities for intellectual synthesis and to cultivate advanced principles and practices of scholarship. (Offered once a year, usually in Spring.)

Honors Contract

An honors contract is an enhanced component of approved course. In consultation with an instructor, a student constructs a rationale and plan for doing independent work of a character and quality not expected of other students within the context of a particular class. This plan typically involves a combination of research, writing, and oral presentation. Typically, it requires something more distinctive than simply an extra paper or a longer report. A different quality, not just quantity, of thinking is expected.

Forms for Honors contracts are available from the Director of Honors or the Honors Program Office. On these forms, the student and the faculty member must provide the following information: the names of the student and the professor; the name and number of the course; the term in which the student is enrolled in the course; an overview of the non-Honors requirements for the course; a description of the work required of the Honors student; the deadline for submitting this work; and signatures of the student and the professor.

Carthage encourages students to begin work on the Honors component of each course at the beginning of the term. To facilitate this, Honors contract forms must be submitted to and approved by the Director of Honors no later than the end of the third week of class during the Fall or Spring term, and no later than the end of the first week of class during J-Term. This deadline can be extended only at the request of the professor. Honors contracts may be submitted in advance, prior to the beginning of the term. Honors contracts submitted to the Director of Honors will be kept in the Honors Office and will be placed in the student's Honors file only after notification by the professor that the student has completed the work outlined in the Honors contract.

If a student does not earn a grade of "B" or higher during the term (including the work outlined in the Honors contract), the student will not receive Honors credit for the course.

Carthage Honors Plan of Study

Students who complete the Carthage Honors Program are expected not only to commit themselves to rigorous in-depth study of a specific subject, but also to demonstrate intellectual balance and flexibility through their ability to make connections across disciplines.

The Honors Plan of Study requires students to complete the three components of the Honors Program successfully. Please note that qualified students (including transfers) may petition the Director of Honors for a modified plan of study.

1. Foundation Component

These requirements consist of four courses intended to ensure that students explore their academic options and their intellectual abilities through challenging and enriched fundamental courses. Typically, Honors students complete this component of the program during their first three or four terms at Carthage.

Four courses include at least one of the following courses:

Honors Western Heritage I

Honors Western Heritage II

A Global Heritage course with an Honors Contract

AND

At least one Honors general education course (a 1000 or 2000 level course with an Honors Contract).

2. Students who successfully complete these four courses and maintain an overall GPA of at least 3.25 will be eligible to continue in the Carthage Honors Program.

3. Concentration Component

These requirements intend to ensure that Honors students do high-level work in a particular academic discipline. Students seeking All-College Honors must earn honors in at least one of their majors. If a department has not established requirements for honors in a given major, the student must complete the following requirements:

Honors Contracts in two advanced courses in one major

AND

Presentation of the Senior Thesis to an audience beyond the major department

AND

All of the following:

- Complete all requirements for the major;
- Receive a rating of "excellent" on the Senior Thesis from the faculty of the major department;
- Be formally recommended by the faculty of the major department;
- Maintain an overall GPA of 3.5 at graduation.

4. Integration Component

These requirements intend to ensure that Honors students stretch themselves across the curriculum, that they connect what they are learning about a particular discipline with other ways of knowing, learning, and doing.

- Carthage Symposium (with Honors Contract)
- Honors 4250: Senior Colloquium
- Overall G.P.A. of 3.5 at graduation

Students who successfully complete all three components of the Honors Program will be granted All-College Honors and that designation will appear on their transcripts and on their diploma. They also will be acknowledged at the spring Honors Convocation and at Commencement.

Honors Co-Curriculum

The Honors Program seeks to enhance classroom experiences through a wide variety of intellectual, cultural, and social opportunities. Honors students, with appropriate faculty encouragement and support, assume visible leadership in a variety of contexts across campus and help elevate its intellectual and cultural tones.

The Honors Council serves as an umbrella organization for student-led Honors activities on campus. Through Honors Council, students can participate in service projects, social activities, and special programming and student-faculty gatherings. The Honors Council has an executive board and is structured so that students can provide input into the Honors curriculum, present papers at regional and national conferences, and apply to participate in off-campus and international Honors terms.

Academic Honorary Organizations

Alpha Chi

A national college honor scholarship society whose purpose is to promote academic excellence and exemplary character among college students and to honor those who achieve such distinction. No more than the top 10 percent of the senior class may be inducted.

Alpha Lambda Delta

A national honorary society recognizing outstanding academic achievement for first-year students.

Sigma Xi

An international research society whose programs and activities promote the health of the scientific enterprise and honor scientific achievement. Students who show outstanding potential as researchers may be named as associate members.

Omicron Delta Kappa

A national honorary society recognizing juniors and seniors for excelling in academic work and service to the community.

Departmental Honoraries

Students may be invited to join discipline-specific national organizations that acknowledge excellent work.

Scholarships and Academic Planning

The Director of Honors and faculty advisors are available to assist qualified students in applying to graduate programs and for national and international fellowships such as the Rhodes, Marshall, Truman, Fulbright, and Mellon. Students who receive these and other awards are recognized each spring at the Honors Convocation.

Dean's List

Full-time students who earn at least a 3.5 GPA while completing at least 14 graded credits in a term are acknowledged on the Carthage Dean's List.

Honors in the Major

Departments at Carthage offer students the opportunity to earn Honors in the major. Each department may establish the requirements for Honors in the major according to the standards, needs, practices, and traditions of the discipline. If established, these requirements must be submitted to the Director of Honors for approval. If a department elects not to establish its own requirements for Honors in the major or does not submit these requirements to the Director of Honors, the following requirement will apply to students seeking Honors in the major: Honors Contracts in two advanced courses in one major

AND

AND

All of the following:

1. Complete all requirements for the major;
2. Receive a rating of "excellent" on the Senior Thesis from the faculty of the major department;
3. Be formally recommended by the faculty of the major department;
4. Maintain an overall GPA of 3.5 at graduation.

Please see the appropriate department chair for details on Honors in the major. Successful completion of Honors in the major will be recognized at Commencement.

Latin Honors

cum laude in recognition of a final, cumulative grade-point average of at least 3.5/4.0.

magna cum laude in recognition of a final, cumulative grade-point average of at least 3.7-3.899/4.0.

Division of Education

The Division of Education represents a union of a liberal arts education with a professional career. This orientation is compatible with the Carthage mission and goals, especially those of transmitting the concepts of human heritage, personal satisfaction, and service to society. Licensure programs are offered in middle childhood/early adolescent (elementary/middle ages 6-13), cross-categorical special education, early adolescent/adolescent (middle/secondary ages 10-21), and license in Physical Education, Health Education, as well as certification in Adaptive PE Athletic Coaching, as well as special fields (Grades K-12 or Early Childhood - Adolescent) in physical education, music and modern language. Details of each program, as well as those for teaching licensed academic majors and minors, are presented in the separate areas of the academic departments within each division.

The Division of Education also offers a major in athletic training. This program emphasizes our commitment to service to society, preparing our graduates for careers in such diverse areas as geriatric facilities, sports facilities, and sports teams.

Our faculty and staff are dedicated to the preparation of outstanding professional people who will be future leaders in their communities. Thus, we serve the interests of our students and their constituent entities within the framework of the Carthage mission.

Performance-Based Assessment for Education Majors

The faculty of the Division of Education is committed to a performance-based assessment system that is based on the 10 Wisconsin Teacher Standards and which relates to the seven principles in our conceptual framework. The 10 Wisconsin Teacher Standards are:

1. The teacher understands the central concepts, tools of inquiry, and structures of the disciplines he or she teaches and can create learning experiences that make these aspects of subject matter meaningful for pupils.
2. The teacher understands how children with broad ranges of ability learn and provides instruction that supports their intellectual, social, and personal development.
3. The teacher understands how pupils differ in their approaches to learning and the barriers that impede learning and can adapt instruction to meet the diverse needs of pupils, including those with disabilities and exceptionalities.
4. The teacher understands and uses a variety of instructional strategies including the use of technology to encourage children's development of critical thinking, problem solving, and performance skills.
5. The teacher uses an understanding of individual and group motivation and behavior to create a learning environment that encourages positive social interaction, active engagement in learning, and self-motivation.

6. The teacher uses effective verbal and nonverbal communication techniques as well as instructional media and technology to foster active inquiry, collaboration, and supportive interaction in the classroom.
7. The teacher organizes and plans systematic instruction based upon knowledge of subject matter, pupils, the community, and curriculum goals.
8. The teacher understands and uses formal and informal assessment strategies to evaluate and ensure the continuous intellectual, social, and physical development of the pupil.
9. The teacher is a reflective practitioner who continually evaluates the effect of his or her choices and actions on pupils, parents, professionals in the learning community and others, and who actively seeks out opportunities to grow professionally.
10. The teacher fosters relationships with school colleagues, parents, and agencies in the larger community to support pupil learning and well-being, and who acts in an ethical manner with integrity and fairness.

To receive a license to teach in Wisconsin, an applicant shall complete an approved program and demonstrate proficient performance in the knowledge, skills, and dispositions under all of the above standards. Carthage's Teacher Education Program has been approved by the Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction. Students demonstrate their proficient performance through class assignments, pre-student teaching field experience, student teaching, and a pre-student teaching portfolio. (Please see division faculty members for more specific information.)

Conceptual Framework-Education

The Division of Education's conceptual framework represents both the liberal arts foundation of the college's general curriculum and the educator preparation program's curriculum. The framework builds on candidates' liberal arts experiences to provide a common set of expectations that, when realized, become hallmarks of a Carthage graduate. The accreditation of the Carthage program is the result of compliance with the regulations of the Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction and the North Central Accreditation Agency.

The conceptual framework is a shared vision that identifies the teaching knowledge, skills, and dispositions teacher candidates will master at a level appropriate for beginning teachers or administrators. The Division of Education's objective is to provide educators who are well prepared to serve their communities. The Division of Education maintains high standards of professional development through research endeavors and extensive local, state, and national involvement. The research and knowledge base is adopted from standards of learned societies to which the members of the Education Division faculty are active participants. Faculty members incorporate this research knowledge and the knowledge base depicted by the 10 Wisconsin Standards for Teacher Development and Licensure into their syllabi and their specific course objectives. The graduate level licensing programs for reading specialists and principals are based on the 7 Wisconsin Standards for Administrators in addition to the 10 Wisconsin Standards for Teacher Development and Licensure. Courses taken while at Carthage include various strands of essential knowledge and skills, and affirm the relationship between the liberal arts foundation and the professional education knowledge base. The Division also maintains its positive relationship with public and private schools through its undergraduate and graduate program, and responds readily to the needs of the schools and their communities.

The basic preparation and advanced programs in the Division of Education are designed to provide experiences and lay a foundation for a professional who continues to learn. The division's conceptual framework has certain fundamental principles that prepare students for licensure as teachers and administrators in Wisconsin and other states. These principles are part of every education program within the College, that teachers should be educated to be competent, caring, and committed while being reflective decision-makers:

1. Graduates will possess a general knowledge of human heritage in several fields of learning including the arts, humanities, and sciences.
2. Professional knowledge of graduates will include oral and written communication skills and a facility for critical and constructive thinking.
3. Graduates will demonstrate knowledge of appropriate instructional foundations, including the knowledge of learners' needs and the ability to meet those needs.
4. Graduates will demonstrate the ability to apply content and pedagogical knowledge in appropriate educational settings, including experiences related to multicultural education, cultural pluralism, and students with disabilities.
5. Graduates will be able to integrate content knowledge and professional knowledge with theory, methods, research, and instructional technology appropriate to the educational field, with emphasis on what is best for the learner.

6. Graduates will complete a program with a basic knowledge and skill base that fosters a love of learning, openness to diverse ideas, and a commitment to education as a lifelong process.
7. Graduates will demonstrate a knowledge and understanding of the professional roles and responsibilities related to their selected discipline in appropriate clinical experiences and practicums.

A performance-based system is embedded within each education class. Candidates will demonstrate their proficiency of the conceptual framework, state-approved teaching and content standards, and the knowledge and performance indicators specified in statutory requirements and rules. Graduates will be assessed continuously with multiple measures based on performance-based standards. The results of these assessments will also be used in evaluating the program along with data collected from other stakeholders.

A Carthage College education provides the opportunities for individuals to identify themselves, recognize the defining aspects of the cultures in our society, as well as their individual roles within this society while preparing for their professional roles and responsibilities. The conceptual framework used by the Division of Education ensures students will have the opportunities to become creative thinkers who are competent, caring, and committed and who make appropriate decisions. The College places significant value on producing educators who are reflective, effective planners and sensitive to cultural needs so its teacher candidates can succeed in an ever-changing school environment.

Division of the Fine Arts

The arts are thriving at Carthage. The College is nestled between Chicago and Milwaukee, two culturally rich metropolises that offer some of the world's finest museums, concert halls, theatres and galleries. But easy access to Chicago and Milwaukee is only the beginning of the Carthage advantage in the arts. The departments of Art, Communication and Digital Media, Music, and Theatre nurture traditions of excellence that date back many decades. And they are striding into the changing environment of the 21st century with confidence and high expectations.

Faculty, students, and guest artists proudly offer plays, concerts, exhibits, recitals and performances for the Carthage campus and the broader community. Frequent events include art and graphic design exhibits, acclaimed theatre productions, appearances by visiting artists and directors, faculty and student music concerts, and screenings of student video productions.

Several music ensembles regularly tour in and beyond the Midwest, often to Europe. The flagship ensemble, the Carthage Choir, recently performed in Carnegie Hall. Theatre students participate annually in the Kennedy Center American College Theatre Festival with a recent production earning recognition as one of the top new original works in the country. The Division's annual Christmas Festival attracts thousands of people to A. F. Siebert Chapel every December.

Our facilities include six large naturally lit art studios; a state-of-the-art computer graphics and electronic music laboratory; the magnificent Fritsch Memorial Organ in Siebert Chapel; a flexible recital hall and art gallery; the Wartburg Auditorium and Studio Theater; and music teaching studios, ensemble rooms, and practice rooms. Siebert Chapel itself is an outstanding concert hall.

Hedberg Library, recognized as Wisconsin Library of the Year for 2004, was designed and constructed to include modern production, editing, and broadcasting facilities appropriate for digital media. The H. F. Johnson Gallery of Art displays work by established and emerging artists from the Chicago, Milwaukee, and Madison areas. The gallery gives Carthage students and faculty the opportunity to engage with current regional and artist trends, and the conceptual ideas that they represent.

The curricular programs offered in the division ensure not only highly developed performance and production skills, but also rigorous intellectual grounding in the history and theory of the arts. The study and pursuit of excellence in the arts at Carthage are deeply embedded in our mission as a college of the liberal arts and sciences in the Lutheran tradition.

All candidates for a Carthage degree, regardless of major field of study, must present credits in the Fine Arts, earned in courses designed to engage students intellectually and creatively in particular areas of the fine arts and to introduce students to aesthetic activity as an essential dimension of the human condition, of human creatures, and of their own capacities and callings.

Studying with the faculty of the division represents an opportunity for a distinctive education in the arts. The members of the faculty possess degrees from distinguished graduate programs, as well as broad professional experience and recognition in art communities of Chicago, Los Angeles, New York, and London. But these scholars and artists have assembled at Carthage because they love to teach and to work directly with students.

Carthage is one of only five private colleges in Wisconsin accredited by the National Association of Schools of Music. The departments of Art, Communication and Digital Media, and Theatre each offer multiple majors to accommodate a variety of emphases and interests. The division's graduates enjoy substantial success in professional careers and graduate work.

Division of the Humanities

The Division of the Humanities provides a storehouse of opportunities for the development and enrichment of the whole person: a person who can think logically, write persuasively and entertainingly, and read analytically; a person who is keenly aware of the inner life of choice, reflection, and commitment. Such a person is also aware of the importance of contributing to society as a whole.

Through the study of literature, history, classics, religion, and philosophy, students engage themselves with cultural heritage and with the questions and issues with which humans have struggled through the ages. Through the study of English, students develop capacities for more articulate expression; through the study of languages, they develop the capacity to appreciate and understand more fully different cultures.

Majors are offered in classics, English, history, religion, philosophy, and, within the Modern Languages Department: Chinese, French, German, Japanese, and Spanish. Students also may be licensed to teach in English, history, French, German, and Spanish. Students in the humanities find careers in a broad variety of fields, including business, law, ministry, journalism, and various fields within the arts. The Carthage humanities faculty is committed to working with students to help them become "people who know how to live, as well as how to earn a living."

Division of the Natural Sciences

The Division of the Natural Sciences is composed of the departments of Biology, Chemistry, Geography and Earth Science, Mathematics, Physics and Astronomy, Computer Science, and programs in Entrepreneurial Studies in the Natural Sciences, Environmental Science, and Neuroscience. The division strives to provide the highest quality experience in science and mathematics within the context of a liberal arts education. Each student approaches the offerings of the division with different needs. For many students, the courses taken will be their only academic experience in science and mathematics. The courses taken by these students will expose them to the diversity in science and mathematics while helping to develop a sense of intellectual curiosity and the judgment necessary to function effectively in our increasingly complex world.

The cornerstone of an education in science and mathematics is the opportunity to explore a chosen discipline in depth. The faculty is dedicated to providing an environment that will nurture this exploration and allow the student to develop a close academic relationship with a faculty mentor. Thus, students are encouraged to participate in research projects as early in their academic career as possible.

Students majoring in one of the many disciplines within the division are well prepared for careers in education, research, or industry. Many students choose to continue their education and are admitted to some of the finest graduate and professional schools in the nation. A special science-related program available to Carthage students is Entrepreneurial Studies in the Natural Sciences (ESNS).

The division is keenly aware of the importance of science education for the population at large. For this reason, the division has general education courses in each department, and NAT 1500 Discovery, a series of thought-provoking, topic-oriented seminars and laboratory experiences in the natural sciences, especially designed for the student who is not majoring in one of the science disciplines.

Natural Science minor for teacher candidates seeking grades 1-8 (Middle Childhood to Early Adolescence certification)

The structure of the Teacher Education Program and the Natural Science Division for this minor is as follows:

4 credits each in physics, earth/space science, chemistry, and biology; plus a concentration of 12 additional credits in one of the above areas. Additionally the students will complete the Science Methods course for the elementary/middle school certification program. All courses must have the SCI distribution credit.

Broadfield Science minor for teacher candidates seeking grades 6-12 (Early Adolescence to Adolescence certification)

Recent trends in education show that teachers are being asked to teach broad, general science classes that often stretch beyond their major field. In fact, applicants with a single science major may get overlooked in favor of applicants who have some broadfield training. The broadfield science minor, as a supplement to the science major and education certification, will prepare students to teach science in junior and senior high schools.

Requirements for the Minor

The students will:

1. Major in biology, chemistry, physics, or other DPI certifiable natural science
2. Complete an additional 24 credits from the following list of courses, two from each of the three core areas of science not in their major field:

Chemistry

CHM 1010 General Chemistry I

CHM 1020 General Chemistry II

Biology

BIO 1100 Biodiversity and Evolution

BIO 1020 Plants and People

or

BIO 1030 Conservation

or

BIO 2200 Ecology

Physics

PHY 2100 Physics I

PHY 2110 Physics II

or

PHY 2200 General Physics I

PHY 2210 General Physics II

Earth and Space Science

PHY 1030 Astronomy

or

ENV 1600 Intro to Environmental Science

NAT 1500 Discovery

SCI

A series of thought-provoking, topic-oriented undergraduate seminars and laboratory experiences in the natural sciences. The seminars will deal with a set of relevant scientific issues and ideas. Past courses have examined issues such as infectious disease, climate change, relativity, and chaos theory. These issues are explored through hands-on experience, reading, writing, and discussion. The ethical and moral dilemmas faced by scientists throughout the ages are an essential component of this course. Students who have completed 12 or more credit hours in courses designated SCI cannot receive credit for NAT 1500 Discovery.

NAT 4200 Methods and Materials in Teaching Natural Science

4 cr

A study of natural science teaching methods and instructional materials. Special attention is given to the selection and organization of subject matter and learning activities. Field work required. Prerequisite: Admission to the Teacher Education Program (TEP).

Division of the Social Sciences

Course work and programs in the social sciences expose students to a variety of ways to formulate questions, examine problems, and understand the world in which they live. Through various disciplines, the nature of social interaction in the spheres of the family and community, workplace and economy, and national and international relations are scientifically explored, and the role that educated individuals play in advancing the well-being of constituent groups is examined and debated.

The Division of the Social Sciences includes several fields of departmental study: business administration, economics, political science, psychology, social work, and sociology. In addition to majors and minors in the above disciplines, the division offers majors in accounting, criminal justice, finance, marketing, environmental sciences, international political economy, and other interdisciplinary programs.

The division provides all Carthage students with a variety of courses for meeting the social science distribution requirement of the general education curriculum where students develop a basic understanding of how theory, method, data collection, and data analysis work together to study social phenomena. Majors in the division balance theoretical and applied study to take this understanding deeper. Opportunities for field placement are integral to several programs. Throughout the curriculum, students will find courses that sharpen their analytical skills while encouraging an examination of their value precepts.

After completing a program of study as majors, Carthage graduates find themselves prepared to begin professional careers in business, public service, secondary education, or human service organizations. Some majors, who together make up approximately one-third of all Carthage students, choose to continue their education immediately by entering various graduate programs in their respective disciplines or professional schools in law, management, and social work.

Art

Studio and academic programs of the Department of Art provide a range of experiences for study of the visual arts for all Carthage students. The Department of Art offers majors in Studio Art and Art History, minors in Studio Art and Art History, and a minor in the cross-disciplinary History of the Arts.

The studio courses are designed to provide a foundation in traditional media, while preparing the student to explore new media and a personal vision. They acquaint students with fundamental concepts of design, materials, and tools of the fine arts and crafts. Working in two and three dimensions, students learn to relate abstract ideas and visual forms, acquiring languages of visual communication.

The art history and theory courses in both Western and non-Western traditions allow the student to study visual art as an enduring cultural legacy and the site of aesthetic exploration and expression. These courses are designed to provide the intellectual framework for understanding and interpreting visual culture. They also build the analytical skills necessary to discuss the complex modes of artistic expression across the ages.

Because the curriculum pivots around artistic production and exhibition, museum classes, internships, visiting artist workshops, and involvement in Carthage's Johnson Art Gallery are central experiences. The culmination of a studio major is the Senior Art Exhibition. The culmination of a major in art history is the public presentation of an original thesis.

Departmental Honors are awarded to outstanding studio or art history students who achieve excellence in the thesis and achieve a cumulative grade point average of 3.5 or greater. Recipients demonstrate leadership and engagement in the Carthage arts community, and studio recipients demonstrate outstanding participation in art shows and critiques.

Majors in studio art are prepared for a lifelong practice in creative activity. Studio art learning is broadly applicable to many fields because students learn how to sustain creative research, pursue independent insights, and make new ideas available to the larger community. Employers are aware of this, and a studio art major is attractive preparation for entry-level positions in a variety of fields. At the same time, there are many art-related job opportunities for studio art majors, some of which require graduate study. A few examples of the many career opportunities include: illustration, art therapy, visual merchandising, industrial design, book design, interior decorator, mural artist, animator, museum installation, industrial draftsman, exhibit design, cartooning, calligrapher, fashion designer, photo journalist, production pottery, master printmaker, and many others.

Art history is inherently interdisciplinary; employers in many fields find the major attractive for entry-level positions requiring a liberal arts education. However, there are many careers directly related to the art history degree. Some, but not all, require graduate study. These include: art and property appraisal; visual art resource curation; museum and gallery work; art investment and consultation; art law and law enforcement; preservation and conservation; publishing; research; and arts organization management.

ART 3150 Women in the Literary and Visual Arts (FAR)

4cr

While doing library research on "women" for her guest lecture at Newnham and Girton colleges in 1928, the disconcerted Virginia Woolf learned that "it was impossible for any woman, past, present, or to come, to have the genius of Shakespeare . . . Cats do not go to heaven. Women cannot write the plays of Shakespeare." Women in the Visual and Literary Arts takes up that famous feminist's concern: WHY have there been no famous women artists? HAVE there been none?? Now Women in the Visual and Literary Arts investigates women's artistic work alongside those cultural forces that have shaped it. The course begins by establishing the historical context for women's artistic expression. This includes the major events defining the moment in history and the material conditions that characterize it. Also included with each period will be some of those major voices that have achieved canonical status, as well as those women artists, writers, and performers who have been omitted from history.

Asian Studies

Recent economic, political, and social changes clearly show that broader and deeper understanding of Asia is essential.

Despite the significance of Asian culture, the study of Asia has received little emphasis in our educational system, where the thrust of instruction tends to reflect the origins of the majority of the population. These conditions have changed over time, sometimes dramatically, as the United States has become a more pluralistic society. As a relatively recent example, the 1965 liberalization of immigration law has resulted in an enormous expansion in the number of Americans of Asian origin. The need to know about Asia also stems from the changing economic landscape abroad, as well as developments at home. Since 1981, the trade deficits with both China and Japan have become enormous, creating political tensions. Both of these Asian nations are also undergoing significant economic and political changes, which in turn will influence relations with the U.S.

The Asian Studies major will provide substantial and systematic instruction about Asia; the minor will supplement students' existing majors through systematic instruction in appropriate Asia-related areas. The goal is to broaden understanding to prepare Carthage graduates for careers involving Asia, and more broadly for work and life in an increasingly global economy. The College has faculty strength in East and South Asian studies. The existing Mizuno fellowships, the exchange program with Tokyo Gakugei University, and the Carthage/Hong Lou Si study abroad program are important components in helping to give students direct study and work experience in Asia.

Developments in each decade since World War II have alerted Americans to the importance of Asia. From a longer perspective, Asian cultures and history have had profound effects on our own. The proposed major and minor are designed to give Carthage students an effective and interdisciplinary education on different dimensions of this significant region.

Requirements for the Major:

The athletic training major at Carthage is an undergraduate entry-level program. The program begins its clinical instruction program in the student's second term of their sophomore year. Transfer students must have 32 credits to be eligible for admission. The student's acceptance into the program is based on the following criteria:

1. Formal admission and acceptance by Carthage Office of Admissions.
2. Grades earned in ATH 1020: Introduction to Athletic Training and AT 2080: Structural Kinesiology.
3. Completion of 25 observation hours.
4. A personal interview with the Athletic Training Program director and admissions committee.
5. High school grade point average, ACT scores, and class rank.
6. A completed application.

The student must have a minimum GPA of 2.75 to apply to the athletic training program. There is no minimum high school GPA, ACT score, or class rank. The student is selected based on the comparison of all criteria listed above with other students applying at the same time. The application for admission into the program will be provided to the student by the program director. The deadline for admission is December 1 of the student's sophomore year. All students applying for admission will be notified in writing of their acceptance or rejection into the program within three weeks after the admission deadline. If students are not accepted, they can reapply the following year.

Athletic Training Educational Program Technical Standards for Admission

The Athletic Training Educational Program at Carthage is a rigorous and intense curriculum. One objective is to prepare graduates to enter a variety of employment settings and to render care to a wide spectrum of individuals engaged in physical activity. The technical standards set forth by the Athletic Training Educational Program establish the essential qualities considered necessary for students admitted to this program to achieve the knowledge, skills, and competencies of an entry-level athletic trainer, as well as to meet the expectations of the program's accrediting agency (Commission on Accreditation of Athletic Training Education [CAATE]).

The abilities and expectations listed below must be met by all students admitted to the Athletic Training Educational Program. In the event a student is unable to fulfill these technical standards, with or without reasonable accommodation, the student will not be admitted into the program. Compliance with the program's technical standards does not guarantee a student's eligibility for the BOC certification examination.

Candidates for selection to the Athletic Training Educational Program must demonstrate:

1. The mental capacity to assimilate, analyze, synthesize, and integrate concepts to problem solve to formulate assessment and therapeutic judgments, and to distinguish deviations from the norm.
2. Sufficient postural and neuromuscular control, sensory function, and coordination to perform appropriate physical examinations using accepted techniques; and to accurately, safely, and efficiently use equipment and materials during the assessment and treatment of patients.
3. The ability to effectively communicate with patients and colleagues, and to show sensitivity to individuals from different cultural and social backgrounds; to effectively communicate judgments and treatment information; and to understand and speak the English language at a level consistent with competent professional practice.
4. The ability to clearly and accurately record the physical examination results and a treatment plan.
5. The capacity to maintain composure and continue to function well during periods of high stress.
6. The perseverance, diligence, and commitment to complete the athletic training education program as outlined and sequenced.
7. The flexibility and ability to adjust to changing situations and uncertainty in clinical situations.
8. Affective skills, appropriate demeanor, and rapport that relate to professional education and quality patient care.

Candidates for selection to the Athletic Training Educational Program will be required to verify that they understand and meet these technical standards, or that they believe that, with certain accommodations, they can meet the standards.

Students with disabilities who request accommodations to meet the program standards must provide the program director with documentation appropriate to the condition from an appropriate authority. The program director will have the Disability Services personnel evaluate documentation and determine whether the stated condition qualifies as a disability. The Disability Services personnel together with the program director will determine what appropriate accommodations will be provided to a student so that he or she can meet the program's technical standards.

Classics

Classics is an interdisciplinary field that introduces students to the diverse, dynamic, and complex world of the ancient Mediterranean and medieval worlds. The courses are designed to give students a broad, interdisciplinary perspective of these worlds, and encourage recognition of cultural shifts and changes, many of which have shaped the contemporary worlds of the Mediterranean, Middle East and Western Europe.

The department offers courses in language (Latin and Ancient Greek), literature, history, religion, mythology, art and architecture, and archaeology. Faculty in the department cover Greece, Rome, Egypt, the Ancient Near East, and Europe, from the beginnings of the civilizations in the ancient Near East to the High Middle Ages.

Although deeply rooted in the study of the past, the Classics Department at Carthage embraces the challenges of today's world, and provides students not only with the critical skills that come from the study of language, history, literature, and material culture, but also with the perspective that can only come from engagement with different cultures and traditions. In a world of rapid technological advances in which highly specialized skills rapidly become obsolete, the student with a strong background in classics offers the diversity of perspective, flexibility of mind, precision in communication, and ability to learn independently that employers in business, government, education, and industry find attractive.

Please see requirements for Honors under the Honors section that is located in the "All-College Programs" section of the catalog.

Classics*CLS 1320 Introduction to Ancient Near East (HUM)

4cr

As inhabitants of the West, our culture often invokes the influence of the Greeks and Romans without understanding the contributions the Ancient Near East (today's Middle East) bequeathed to the Greeks and Romans. Thus the class will study the cultures of ancient Mesopotamia (Iraq), Persia (Iran), Turkey (Hittites and Troy), Syria (including Palestine), Phoenicia (Lebanon), ending with the defeat of the Persians under Alexander the Great, and examine its impact on the cultures of Greece and Rome.

CLS 1350 Classical Mythology (HUM)

4cr

Survey of the major myths of the ancient Mesopotamians, Greeks, and Romans, and their influence in art and literature. The class examines different schools of myth interpretation and impact on literature.

Fall

CLS 1400 Classical Archaeology (HUM)

4cr

Classical Archaeology introduces students to the material culture of the Greco-Roman world as well as the methodologies that allow scholars to reconstruct, using the latest approaches in classical archaeology to understand and interpret such a distant time period. Students develop an appreciation of the contributions of the Greeks and Romans in such fields as art, architecture, urban planning, and landscape. Within the scope of the course, students look at the formative periods of the Greco-Roman world, from the period of Iron Age Greece to the transitional period of the late antique. In addition, students learn how to distinguish between different artistic styles (archaic, classical, Hellenistic, Roman, etc.). The course does NOT focus extensively on how archaeology is done. CLS 3250, Field Archaeology covers that area.

CLS 1410 Greek and Roman Art (HUM)

4cr

The Greeks and the Romans left an artistic legacy that shaped Western art and which still persists today. In the course, students will learn the art and architecture of the ancient Greeks and Romans with an emphasis on understanding the art within its cultural context. The periods covered will be from the Greek Geometric period and end with Roman art from the time of Constantine. At one time, the study of art and architecture of the Roman Worlds was synonymous with classical archaeology.

CLS 2310 The Greeks (HUM)

4cr

A survey of Greek culture, which introduces students to the achievements (political, social, intellectual, artistic, etc.) and ideas of the ancient Greeks. This course covers the sweep of Greek culture from the Mycenaean period (1600-1200 BCE) to the world of Alexander the Great and his successors. This course is cross-listed in Classics and History.

CLS 2350 The Romans (HUM)

4cr

This course introduces students to the history of the Romans (political, social, and intellectual) as well as ideas of ancient Rome. This course covers Rome from its foundation in 753 BCE to its transformation in late antiquity. Within the chronological sweep of Roman history, the class focuses on particular aspects of Roman society: class and status, daily life, slavery, etc. This course is cross-listed with History.

CLS 2400 The World of Late Antiquity (HUM)

4cr

The World of Late Antiquity studies the transformation of what had been the Roman Empire, beginning with the reign of Diocletian, into the worlds of Byzantium, Islam, and the West. In this course, the student focuses on the major political, social, and cultural changes from 284 to 750 when the culture is no longer considered "classical." Students will also discover how ancient civilizations, as we understand them, disappear for all time and how in the deeply fragmented remains of a once-homogeneous world, three different (Medieval, Byzantine, and Islamic) cultures arise. The impact of Christianity's emergence is central to the study of this period.

CLS 2450 Race, Gender, and Sex in Greece and Rome (HUM)

4cr

A study of how the Greeks and Romans perceived those who lived outside their respective cultures, how they interacted with them, how they treated marginalized elements of their society (women, slaves, foreigners), and how they reacted to physical differences that existed among races. In sum, the course deals with definitions of gender, sexuality, race, ethnicity, and "otherness" in general (using both modern and ancient definitions).

CLS 2500 Early Medieval History (HUM)

4cr

From the collapse of the Roman Empire in the fifth century to the creation of the Carolingian Empire by Charlemagne in the ninth century, early medieval Europe was hardly the dark age it has traditionally been presumed to be. This course will survey major political, social, economic and cultural developments of Western Europe in the first half of the medieval period.

CLS 2550 Later Medieval Europe (HUM)

4cr

Knights in shining armor. Robin Hood and Friar Tuck. Majestic cathedrals. Heretics burned at the stake. The medieval world that lives in our imagination derives from the flowering of Western Europe between the eleventh and fourteenth centuries. But how much of what we think of as medieval is actually medieval? This course will answer this question by surveying major political, social, economic, and cultural developments of Western Europe in the second half of the medieval period.

CLS 2750 Research Methods in Classics

4cr

An introduction to conducting research on one topic from the following disciplines: philosophy, religion, or classics. The class will focus on learning how to distinguish and evaluate primary and secondary sources; to write a researched paper; to recognize different approaches (theoretical) to a given topic; and to become familiar with the work of representative classicists/philosophers/representatives/historians. Offered only in spring term.

Prerequisite: Open to majors only.

Spring

CLS 3000 The Golden Age of Athens (HUM)

4cr

An intensive and interdisciplinary approach to one of the most seminal periods in Western history: the Age of Pericles. Called the Golden Age of Athens, this period bequeathed to Western culture ethical philosophy, the ideals of democracy, the classical style as perfected in the Parthenon, and masterpieces of tragedy and history. Students will read the literature of the time, study Athens' monuments and art, and come to understand how, under the driving force of one person, all these disciplines interacted with each other. Prerequisite: Upper division status or consent of instructor. CLS 2310 is highly recommended

CLS 3100 The Age of Augustus (HUM)

4cr

An intensive and interdisciplinary approach to one of the most important and seminal periods of Western history: the age of the emperor Augustus. Students study the process of transformation from the Roman Republic to the Roman Empire during the Augustan principate. They also encounter the Augustan authors and creators of the Golden Age of Latin literature (Virgil, Horace, Livy etc.), as well as the major works of art and the imperial monuments of Augustus. This course is cross-listed in Classics and History. Prerequisite: Upper division status or consent of instructor CLS 2350 is highly recommended

CLS 3200 Ancient Egypt (HUM)

4cr

A survey of the history, culture, politics, literature and religion of Ancient Egypt from pre-dynastic times through late antiquity (c. 3300BCE to 392 CE), with particular focus on the period when Egypt was at the height of its power (Old, Middle and New Kingdoms).

CLS 3210 Seminar in Greek Studies (HUM)

4cr

An in-depth exploration of a particular period of Greek history or culture. Possible topics include: Alexander the Great, Hellenistic History, the Greek Drama, Greek Historians, Golden Age of Athens, and Second Sophistic Movement. Course builds on topics covered in a more general way in CLS 2310.

CLS 3220 Roman Law and Courtroom Practice (HUM)

4cr

Roman law is a traditional elective for pre-law majors and often required for those seeking a law degree. Students will study the origins of Roman law and the development of courtroom practice by reading inscriptional remains, courtroom documents, and primary accounts of legal thought and legal practice in Rome (and also Greece). The course will also employ a casebook approach to study the practical applications of Roman law and end with each student presenting a final persuasive speech for oneself and against an opposing classmate in an imagined, but authentic, Roman context.

CLS 3250 Field Archaeology (Trip)

4cr

Students gain archaeological experience in the field with an orientation that focuses on the period(s) of the site, its history, its ancient context, and so forth.

Prerequisite: Introduction to Classical Archaeology 1400

Summer

CLS 3260 Seminar in Roman Studies (HUM)

4cr

An in-depth exploration of a particular topic in Roman history or culture. Possible topics include: the Fall of the Roman Republic, the Poetry of Virgil, Roman Historians, the Early Roman Emperors, and the Age of Constantine. Course builds on topics covered in a more general way in CLS 2350.

CLS 3270 Seminar in Medieval Studies (HUM)

An in-depth exploration of a particular topic in medieval history or culture. Possible topics include: Fall of Rome, Medieval Monasticism, Crusades, Age of Justinian, or Augustine and His World. The seminar will build on topics covered in a more general way in the World of Late Antiquity, Early Medieval Europe, Later Medieval Europe, and Byzantine History.

CLS 3310 Greek Religions (HUM)

4cr

Like most ancient peoples, the Greeks believed that a pantheon of heavenly, sublunar, and subterranean divinities controlled or supervised every detail of life on Earth, and they often went to great extremes to appease these gods and goddesses. In this course we will consider the history and practice of Greek religions in the public sphere and the relationship between religious practices, rites and beliefs and the rich body of Greek myth.

Prerequisite: Understandings of Religion REL 1000 or consent of instructor

Fall

CLS 3320 Roman Religions (HUM)

4cr

Like most ancient peoples, the Romans believed that a pantheon of heavenly, sublunar, and subterranean divinities controlled every detail of life on Earth, and they often went to great extremes to appease these gods and goddesses. In this course we will consider the history and practice of Roman religion in both the public and private spheres, including Roman Mystery Religions. We also will discuss how Romans, particularly the elite, reacted to new and different religious cults and how they wove religious practices into every aspect of ancient Roman life.

Prerequisite: Understandings of Religion 1000 or consent of instructor

CLS 3400 Homer's Iliad and Odyssey as Literature and Philosophy (HUM)

4cr

The Iliad and the Odyssey are the earliest texts of the Western tradition. Though everyone recognizes the sophistication of their poetic style and the breadth of their epic vision, too many readers have assumed that Homer composed in an oral tradition that had no conscious interest in philosophy or cultural critique. This course will investigate the philosophy that is embedded, implied, and elaborated in each epic as well as through a comparison of the two. Why is each story told so differently? How do Achilles, Agamemnon, Hector, Helen, compare to Odysseus, Telemachos, and Penelope? We will especially study Penelope for what she reveals about the Homeric view of ethics and epistemology, of what should be done and of what can be known.

CLS 3420 Socrates: Then and Now (HUM)

4cr

This course will investigate Socrates from three points of view. First, we will investigate the historical Socrates and his profound but vexed relationship to Athenian history in the fifth century. Next, it will look at the philosophical Socrates, concentrating on the innovations that he brought to philosophy before people began to write about him: ethics, elenchus, irony, self-examination, independence, inwardness, and rationality. We will then study what subsequent classical philosophers made of the innovations and to what extent Socrates was eclipsed by their writings. Finally, we will look at the cultural Socrates, beginning in the Renaissance rediscovery of him and continuing through the great reinvention of his significance for the problems of modernity.

CLS 3440 Herodotus and Thucydides (HUM)

4cr

Unlike previous writers, Herodotus and Thucydides attempted to explain human nature and human institutions through humanistic inquiry, not divine revelation. In this, they earned the claim to be the first historians. But is reading them as though they privileged the reporting of fact over imaginative interpretation to blind ourselves to much of what is best in them? Were they not also artists strongly influenced by the poets who had gone before? Herodotus, who traveled Greece entertaining people with his colorful stories, patterned himself on Homer and the Homeric bards. Thucydides, though scornful of romantic escapism, seems to have been bent on outdoing the tragic dramatists. And both seem to anticipate the philosophical concerns of Plato and Aristotle.

CLS 4100 Senior Seminar in Classics (HUM)

4cr

The Senior Seminar is taught and directed by one member of the department with the assistance and participation of other faculty members. The seminar will lead the student toward the completion of the senior project, which will be determined by the student and the directing professor.

Prerequisite: Major in department; Research Methods 2750; Open to seniors only

Communication and Digital Media

Mission:

The Department of Communication and Digital Media (CDM) engages students in the adventure of human communication in historical and contemporary contexts. It seeks to understand the role communication plays in culture and commerce, and to develop insights and skills that equip students for thoughtful, effective, and ethical communication in the 21st century.

Programs:

The department offers majors in communication, graphic design, and public relations; and minors in communication and public relations.

Classical and contemporary theoretical perspectives are examined as a platform for developing critical faculties, as well as the skills required to become an effective communicator in diverse settings. Students are trained in written, oral, and visual communication. Special emphasis is placed on ethical considerations, and on the ability to communicate using electronic and digital media.

The department believes that the technologies and attendant cultures of the information age are deeply impacting human communication in the 21st century. Global and local cultures are undergoing profound shifts in communication practices. This department is committed to helping our students develop the understandings and practical skills necessary for effective communication and leadership in these changing circumstances.

No discipline taught in the academy remains unaffected by the convergence of older oral and print cultures with the burgeoning world of digital communication. New literacies and communicative competences have become essential for the liberally educated person envisioned by the Carthage College mission statement. Media literacy and visual literacy are increasingly as foundational for an educated citizenry as reading, writing, and speaking have long been acknowledged to be. The department offers general education courses and academic majors that develop competencies in, as well as sophisticated critical understanding of, an increasingly mediated world.

Our goals for our students involve more than technical proficiency. The curricula of the department have been developed in conversation with the wisdom of the ages, the insights of neighboring disciplines, the riches of world cultures, and the ethical challenges of a complex world. We actively seek opportunities to engage and affirm the relevance of other discourses and disciplines in the liberal arts and sciences.

Department faculty actively support students in the identification and fulfillment of appropriate internships that challenge and extend their classroom learning. All students majoring in graphic design, communication, or public relations are expected to demonstrate their intellectual grasp of the discipline, as well as their own artistic and communicative competencies, by successfully completing the senior capstone seminar, which involves a major thesis, project, or exhibition.

Recent graduates have gained employment or pursued graduate study in diverse fields such as graphic design, public relations, media, journalism, sales, education, and law.

Criminal Justice

The Criminal Justice Major at Carthage gives students a basic understanding of our criminal justice system, from law-making to law-breaking (including potential sanctions). For this reason, the curriculum is interdisciplinary, and includes courses in political science, sociology and criminal justice.

The curriculum includes relevant traditional courses, along with new courses specifically created to address neglected areas and problems. The various institutions which make up the criminal justice system are all examined in their relationships to one another as well as in their relationship to our society, other social institutions, and related practices. The discussion of such matters raises questions concerning the types of laws and practices which constitute and are consistent with a free, humane, secure, and responsible society.

The major is designed for students who are planning a career in criminal justice areas such as law and judicially-related fields, law enforcement and administration, probation and parole, criminology, adult and juvenile corrections, urban planning and affairs, etc. There are a wide variety of criminal justice careers at the local, state, and national levels.

Economics / International Political Economy

Developing a student's ability to "think like an economist" may be taken as the primary purpose of an undergraduate economics education. This involves a number of distinctive elements: using deductive reasoning in conjunction with simplified models to understand economic phenomena; identifying trade-offs in the context of constraints; distinguishing positive (what is) from normative (what should be) analysis; tracing the implications of possible changes in economic institutions or policies; critically examining data to evaluate and refine our understanding of the economy; and creatively framing economic problems and policy questions in ways that suggest novel approaches to their resolution.

Economics / International Political Economy

These cognitive abilities and modes of thought are enriched by breadth and depth of knowledge, and by the general forms of knowledge that cut across disciplines.

Economic reasoning contains not only logic and facts, but also analogies, stories, and value premises. Context — political, historical and cultural — is important. In formulating economic arguments, students learn to make important connections between economics and other realms of human understanding. In the economics major, we share with other disciplines the desire to empower students with a self-sustaining capacity to think and learn.

At Carthage, the major is rooted in two introductory courses designed to engage students in economic thinking and to demonstrate its applicability to a variety of issues in microeconomics and macroeconomics. The basic principles introduced here are reinforced and refined in the trunk of the major consisting of the intermediate-level theory courses and quantitative methods.

Breadth in the major, the various branches of the tree, is achieved through offering a select number of upper-level electives, each of which emphasizes contextual inquiry and active learning, and draw upon a broad array of source materials. Elective work will often include student internships in economics and foreign study tours offered by departmental faculty. As the capstone to their work in the major, students complete the economic seminar course, including a senior thesis approved by a faculty advisor and presented to departmental faculty and students.

Education

The Education Department at Carthage offers majors in middle childhood/early adolescent education (ages 6-13; grades 1-8) and cross-categorical special education (ages 6-21; grades 1-12); minors in early adolescence/adolescent education (ages 10-21; grades 6-12); and programs in special fields of music and physical education (grades K-12).

Teacher Licensure Programs/Majors

Carthage prepares students for teaching in the following majors: middle childhood/early adolescent (elementary/middle education), cross-categorical special education, biology, broad field social science, chemistry, economics, English, French, German, geography, history, mathematics, music, physical education, physics, political science, psychology, sociology, Spanish, theatre, and communication.

Please see the requirements for each major in the appropriate section of the catalog.

NOTE: Completion of the Carthage education program does not guarantee licensure. State requirements (such as student teaching, content tests, edTPA assessments, criminal background checks, etc.) in addition to program completion must also be met for teacher certification.

Planning a Program

A decision to teach requires a personal commitment and the willingness to follow a prescribed program. Students whose goal is teaching must plan their program with particular care in order to meet both the requirements for graduation and the requirements for a teaching license. Because licensure requirements may vary among the different states, students are advised to seek information early in their college career regarding particular state requirements.

In each of the licensure programs listed, there are specific course sequences that must be followed to achieve licensure. Students are expected to plan and confirm their programs with an Education Department faculty member and/or appointed advisor. Middle Childhood/Early Adolescent majors not seeking licensure in a minor area can choose any minor from the non-licensable minor list found in the Steps booklet. Middle Childhood/Early Adolescent majors seeking licensure in a minor area must choose from the licensable minor list also found in the Steps booklet.

Admission into the Teacher Education Licensure Program

Admission into the Teacher Education Licensure Program (TEP) requires a cumulative grade point average (GPA) of not less than 2.75 on a 4.0 scale computed on all credits of collegiate level course work for undergraduate programs at any and all post-secondary schools attended. The GPA needed in education courses, major and minor, must be at least 2.75.

Students must successfully complete a criminal background check prior to admittance to the Teacher Education Program. Students are also expected to successfully complete an assessment of basic skills using standardized tests and other appropriate measures prior to admission to the teacher education program. All students who want to be admitted to the Teacher Education Program to pursue state licensure must either achieve a composite ACT score of a 23 or higher or exceed the following passing scores on the Praxis I prior to application for admittance to the Teacher Education Program: Reading 175, Writing 174, Mathematics 173.

Students should apply for admission to the Teacher Education Program after having completed foundations courses in education (EDU 1010, 1050, and 2010) and in general education (Core sequence with a C or better). Only students who have at least a 2.75 cumulative grade point average are allowed into the program. No student may enroll in education courses numbered 3000 and above without first having been admitted to the Teacher Education Program. Students must consult their Steps to Becoming a Teacher booklet for the complete list of TEP requirements.

Student Teaching

Student teaching is required for all licensure programs (initial and add-on).

In order to be approved for student teaching and later endorsed for licensure, a student must have a minimum grade point average of 2.75 on a 4.0 scale for the entire undergraduate program, which includes courses from all institutions of higher learning prior to attending Carthage. In addition, student teaching candidates need to submit a second self-report background check, show an acceptable portfolio, pass the appropriate Praxis II content test by the time that they apply to student teach, and successfully complete an interview. Students must be admitted to the Teacher Education Program at least one term prior to application to student teaching.

Student teachers will earn a grade of "P" (Pass) or "F" (Fail). The grade of "P" (Pass) is equivalent to a grade of a C- or higher.

Clinical Experience

The pre-student teaching clinical experiences at Carthage are developmental in scope and sequence and will occur in a variety of settings. To meet the clinical experience requirements, students must register and successfully complete an education course requiring a pre-student teaching clinical experience. Students are expected to balance these experiences so that their time is distributed within the content and grade levels in which students seek licensure and in multicultural settings.

Human Relations

The human relations requirement is satisfied by taking the Core sequence and completing required field experiences as cited above.

Environmental Education

Teacher education certification candidates in Middle Childhood/Early Adolescent education, science, social studies, and other related areas are required to gain competencies in environmental education through liberal arts and education courses as well as other experiences.

Students should be able to show exposure to knowledge of:

1. The wide variety of natural resources and methods of conserving those natural resources.
2. Interactions between the living and non-living elements of the natural environment.
3. The concept of energy and its transformation in physical and biological systems.

English

The purpose of the English major at Carthage is to foster the imaginative understanding of literature and appreciation of language. Students will acquire knowledge of literary history, literary forms and techniques, and the questions and issues particularly relevant to the discipline, while developing critical thinking and writing skills. In addition, the department encourages interested students to explore the art and craft of creative writing. The creative writing track of the English major encourages serious writers from all majors to develop a passion for creative writing and allows them to expand their understanding and practice of the writing of fiction, poetry and creative non-fiction.

The Department of English offers a program with several kinds of students in mind: those satisfying general education requirements; those who want additional courses in composition, literature, and creative writing as electives; those who wish to complete a teaching major or minor in English; and those who want a major in English as preparation for graduate or professional school or a career in fields such as publishing, advertising, law, civil service, journalism, public relations and the ministry.

By majoring in English, students will develop skills that will aid them in any pursuit that requires the ability to think critically and creatively, write articulately, and to consider problems from a broad range of perspectives; they will develop skills that contribute to their professional and personal lives as informed and effective communicators.

English majors are expected to take advantage of the many opportunities to attend literary programs and performances of plays, including those of the Carthage Theatre Department. As a minimum, majors are encouraged to participate in at least one of the annual fall trips to the Stratford Theatre Festival in Ontario.

ENG 3070 Film and Literature (HUM)

4cr

This class will explore the relationship between film and literature. Students will be taught to "read" literature and film, analyzing narrative structure, genre conventions, technical and artistic factors to better understand the relationship between text and image. In addition, students will examine how film and literature reflect the times and conditions in which they are made, and conversely, how they sometimes help shape attitudes and values in society. Our reading and viewing of texts will not only address aesthetic achievement and cultural values, but also distinguish the unique ways in which film and literature construct their representative meanings.

ENG 3090 Literatures of Diversity (HUM)

4cr

Each offering in this rotating selection of courses explores a single diverse ethnic literature, such as African-American, Asian-American, Hispanic-American, and Native American. While content will vary according to the discretion of the instructor, this group of courses is united by a common desire to read a diverse literature according to its own heritage double-voiced as it is further complicated by issues of gender and class. To this end, a course in Native American literature, for example, might begin with a study of the creation myths in the oral tradition, then move to historical, anthropological, autobiographical, and fictional accounts of the Native American experience as the two (often conflicting) voices of Native American and American describe it.

ENG 3100 Literature and Gender (HUM)

4cr

In this course the literature chosen for study will reflect issues relevant to considerations of gender. In some instances, works will be chosen in order to explore the idea of how literature portrays what it means to be male or female. In other instances, literature will be chosen in order to explore how writers of one gender portray characters of the opposite gender. In some instances the choice of literature will be based on extending awareness of writers who, because of their gender, have not historically been included within the canon. The historical and social contexts of these works will be an integral part of the conversation within the course.

ENG 3110 Shakespeare (HUM)

4cr

Students may choose this course as one of the required upper-division courses prior to 1800. In this course, representative tragedies, comedies, histories, and romances will be studied. Attention will be given to how Shakespeare's plays reflect the fundamental concerns of the Renaissance. The course also will include attention to genre, history of ideas, and literary criticism.

Spring

ENG 3140 Literary Genres (HUM)

4cr

This umbrella covers a series of courses on a single literary genre such as the short story, poetry, drama, the epic, or the novel, that will vary in emphasis at the discretion of the instructor. The novel, for example, might be a course focusing on the novel as genre and as literature. The genre section of the course will acquaint the student with the relevant criticism. The literary section will approach the novel as literature according to formalist analysis of language and form, canonical issues, socio-historical contexts, the influence of gender, race, and class, and the role of the reader.

ENG 3150 Special Studies in a Major Author Prior to 1800 (HUM)

4cr

This seminar-style class studies the writing of a major English author prior to 1800. The variable content may draw from one or several genres and gives attention to literary criticism about the writer and the writer's own literary theories. Social, historical, and biographical contexts also constitute elements of the study. ## Entrepreneurial Studies in the Natural Sciences

The ScienceWorks (Entrepreneurial Studies in the Natural Sciences, or ESNS) program is a unique offering at Carthage. It is nationally recognized and has been widely publicized.

The program provides students with opportunities to explore and develop skills and knowledge needed to succeed in their careers and to potentially create new enterprises. Students can combine their studies at Carthage with career and business preparation that will enhance their post-graduate success, including job performance, graduate school training, or developing and operating a business.

The ScienceWorks program includes a one-year course sequence, normally completed during the junior year, that covers all aspects of business and careers. During their senior year, students will study and develop full-scale business plans in partnership with a technology business company or organization. This mixture of courses, hands-on experience, and advanced project work gives the best training before beginning a career or graduate training. The program also provides the student with a business plan product that he or she can show to potential employers, making the student more desirable in the job market after graduation and improving the likelihood for advancement. Preparing a full-scale business plan provides students with the skills that will help make them successful in all aspects of their future careers, including financial planning, strategic and operational planning, product and service development, market analysis, and staff and management strategy.

The program integrates a unique combination of skills and knowledge training. The coursework emphasizes integration of important skills, such as written and oral communication, graphical presentation, business finance and accounting, management, marketing, legal issues and regulation, intellectual property, and business ethics. In addition, the courses cover characteristics of many types of industries and businesses, and includes speakers from local, regional, and national organizations.

The program is offered as a minor, complementing majors across the Carthage curriculum. It requires 20 credits of work.

Required courses include:

Prerequisite: Permission of the ESN Program Director

Environmental Science

Students in the Environmental Science Program focus on the study of the problems that arise when human beings interact with the physical/natural environment. As an area of study in a liberal arts college, this major highlights the interconnections between the natural and social sciences for approaching environmental problems. The approach is broadly based, and yet also focused on the student's choice of an individual study track (Conservation and Ecology, Environmental Policy Analysis, Environmental Data Analysis, or Water and Life).

One of the primary goals is to educate natural and social scientists in the liberal arts tradition, so students will understand how to approach complex problems using methodologies and philosophies from multiple disciplines including biology, chemistry, economics, geography, and political science. The program prepares students for graduate study and/or careers in a variety of environmental fields.

Environmental Science Major

The major in environmental science consists of at least 56 credits including a core set of courses (28 credits) and a plan of study (28 credits) chosen by the student in conjunction with his or her advisor. Students are also expected to attend one campus colloquium per month during their junior and senior years, unless they are participating in an off-campus program.

In consultation with an advisor, the student selects a plan of study that is both focused and interdisciplinary. Four sequences of study from which to choose have been approved for students. Changes to the sequences must be approved by the academic advisor and the Environmental Science Oversight Committee. Under special circumstances, highly motivated students can self-design a sequence to best fit their needs. Again, the academic advisor and the Oversight Committee must approve the plan prior to student's beginning advanced coursework.

Per the College requirement, all Environmental Science majors must complete a senior thesis. An oral presentation of the senior thesis is required as part of the Environmental Science Senior Seminar (ENV 4000). Environmental Science majors who are double-majoring are required to take ENV 4000 even if they have completed a Senior Seminar in another major.

Students can choose any one of the following course sequences to fulfill their environmental science major:

- An internship either as part of an interest group such as Greenpeace, Sierra Club, or the Reason Public Policy Institute, or by working in an industry or government setting.
- Relevant employment in the discipline.

Field experiences are approved as part of your plan of study. Consult your advisor for specific examples.

ENV 1600 Introduction to Environmental Science (LAB SCI)

4cr

This course integrates biology, chemistry, and physical geography, and will provide an introduction to the fundamental natural science foundation necessary to understand and be literate in environmental science. Topics include systems analysis (atmosphere, lithosphere, hydrosphere and biosphere), matter, energy, ecosystems, biodiversity, environmental risk, ozone, water, soil and air pollution, global warming, food resources and human health. Science and information literacy, with particular emphasis on the evaluation of sources, are emphasized in the classroom experience. Data analysis is an integral component of the course and is emphasized in laboratory work. The laboratory portion of this course will allow students hands-on experience with scientific and instrumental techniques typically used in environmental science with which data are analyzed at a variety of temporal and spatial scales.

Fall

ENV 2610 Case Studies in Environmental Science (LAB SCI)

4cr

This course uses case studies and research experiences to build upon the concepts introduced in ENV 1600. There is further development of topics that integrate biology, chemistry, and physical geography. Topics may include invasive species, biodiversity, water, soil or air pollution, global warming, food resources and human health. Data analysis is an integral component of the course and is emphasized in class and laboratory work. The laboratory portion of this course will allow students hands-on experience with scientific and instrumental techniques typically used in environmental science with which data are analyzed at a variety of temporal and spatial scales. For Environmental Science majors, this course allows students to generate work that demonstrates their abilities to synthesize and integrate data and information from the biological, chemical, and geographical sciences. This course is often team-taught.

Prerequisite: ENV 1600

Spring

ENV 2650 Photographing Nature: Investigating Biodiversity and Conservation (NLAB)

Geography and Earth Science

Geographers and earth scientists study spatial patterns to discover underlying natural and human processes at work in the hydrosphere, atmosphere, lithosphere, and biosphere. They are concerned with primarily three interrelated aspects: (1) the physical characteristics and processes of the Earth's surface and atmosphere; (2) the activities of people who have modified the natural landscape; and (3) the origins of and changes in cultural landscapes. The study of geography and earth science prepares majors for real-world problem solving, as many societal problems have geographic dimensions. A few examples include water management, agricultural productivity, forestry, climate change, and environmental quality. The department prepares students for productive and rewarding careers while instilling the thought processes, qualities, and habits that are the hallmarks of a liberally educated person.

Graduates of the department often are quickly employed in private industry or government positions, or they choose to continue their studies in a graduate program. The U.S. Department of Labor has recently identified geospatial analysis as one of the leading areas of employment in the coming years.

Because of this breadth of opportunity, geography students' choices of elective courses outside the major are often as important as their choices within the major. Students majoring in geography and earth science are urged to achieve competency in mathematics, statistics, and/or computer science. The desired level of competency within these disciplines varies with each student's career goals. Prospective geography and earth science students are urged to discuss career goals and opportunities with department faculty.

Great Ideas

The Great Ideas curriculum explores the ideas of some of the best minds of Western thought such as Homer, Plato, Virgil, Augustine, Aquinas, Machiavelli, Shakespeare, and Austen. Through careful reading of great literary, philosophical, scientific, and religious texts, students come to grips with the fundamental and immediately relevant questions they raise: What is love? What is justice? What is the best way of life? What is the physical world? What is knowledge and how do we come to know things? What is faith and what does faith demand? What is happiness? In class, students will grapple with the different and often opposing answers the texts contain in order to clarify, reflect upon, and further develop their own understandings. Students will begin to shape their own responses to these and other questions that necessarily occupy responsible and thoughtful human beings and citizens.

The Great Ideas curriculum introduces students to a broad range of texts while also permitting intense study of certain texts over an extended period of time. As they encounter some of the richest and most challenging texts ever written, students will become proficient at analyzing complex ideas and arguments, at comparing the texts to each other, and at writing and speaking about them clearly and effectively.

Great Ideas Major

The major consists of 40 credits. Five courses are required for all majors:

GFW 2210 Foundations of Western Thought I: Ancient to Medieval	(4 cr.)
GFW 2220 Foundations of Western Thought II: Renaissance to Modern	(4 cr.)
GFW 2310 Foundations of American Thought	(4 cr.)
GFW 2410 Foundations of Natural Sciences	(4 cr.)
GFW 2420 Foundations of Mathematical Thought	(4 cr.)

Two are seminars on the foundations of Western thought (it is suggested that students take these two courses as soon as possible); the remaining three narrow the focus somewhat by concentrating respectively on American, mathematical, and natural scientific thought. (It is suggested that students take the mathematics course before the natural science course.)

In addition, majors take four electives, all of which focus on primary texts of Western thought and at least two of which focus on the close reading of a small number of such texts.

Finally, students write a thesis in a capstone seminar (GFW 4000).

Great Ideas Minor

The minor consists of 20 credits. Two courses will be required for all minors:

GFW 2210 Foundations of Western Thought I: Ancient to Medieval	(4 cr.)
GFW 2220 Foundations of Western Thought II: Renaissance to Modern	(4 cr.)
And
GFW 2410 Foundations of Natural Sciences	(4 cr.)
or
GFW 2420 Foundations of Mathematical Thought	(4 cr.)

The remaining two courses can be selected from among the courses taken by Great Ideas majors, excluding the capstone seminar.

For their electives, majors and minors can choose from any GFW courses or courses in other departments that meet GFW criteria. Check with the program director to see if a course in another department will count toward the major or minor. Examples of elective courses from other departments are:

GRK 2010 - Intermediate Greek I

History

The study of history provides the necessary background for a sound understanding of the modern world. Because history is an interdisciplinary enterprise, the history faculty must draw upon both the liberal arts and social sciences to present an accurate and complete view of the human experience.

Few fields of study prepare students more broadly for the future than history. For history, as it is taught at Carthage, is far more than just names and dates. Through the lens of history, students learn to appreciate and understand how humans on all levels of society have lived and grappled with war, revolution, social change, and the environment. History also provides students with the tools for a lifetime of meaningful work and intellectual endeavor. Critical thinking, effective oral communication, and good writing are the skills that are developed through the study of history. These skills provide the foundation for successful careers in law, business, journalism, government, education, and the ministry.

HIS 2500 Early Medieval History (HUM)

4cr

From the collapse of the Roman Empire in the fifth century to the creation of the Carolingian Empire by Charlemagne in the ninth century, early medieval Europe was hardly the dark age it has traditionally been presumed to be. This course will survey major political, social, economic and cultural developments of western Europe in the first half of the medieval period.

HIS 2550 Later Medieval Europe (HUM)

4cr

Knights in shining armor. Robin Hood and Friar Tuck. Majestic cathedrals. Heretics burned at the stake. The medieval world that lives in our imagination derives from the flowering of Western Europe between the eleventh and fourteenth centuries. But how much of what we think of as medieval is actually medieval? This course will answer this question by surveying major political, social, economic and cultural developments of Western Europe in the second half of the medieval period.

The course will also look at the borderlands between our two countries, and the Mexican diaspora living in the United States today.

HIS 3060 History of the Caribbean (HUM)

4cr

Beginning in 1492, the Caribbean region has vacillated between the periphery and center stage of global history. Its strategic location within the Atlantic basin has, at various points, propelled nations in the Caribbean into importance disproportionate to the nations size, wealth, or political influence. Examples of this phenomenon include the Encounter (arguably the most important even in world history); the Haitian Revolution, with its profound consequences for the United States, Europe, and Africa; and the Cuban Missile Crisis, which served as a historical fulcrum in the trajectory of the Cold War. This course follows the dramatic trajectory of Caribbean history from 1492 to the present, introducing themes that include the European conquest; colonial economic history from 1492 to the present, introducing themes that include the European conquest; colonial economic transformation into sugar colonies; slavery; the Haitian revolution; abolition; the introduction of US economic, military, and political hegemony; the Cuban revolution and subsequent crises; and some contemporary issues.

Modern Languages

The study of foreign languages and cultures is at the core of a liberal arts education, and the Modern Languages Department embraces this role at Carthage with courses and major and minor programs in Chinese, French, German, Japanese, and Spanish. The Department equips students to work, serve, and lead in the world by preparing them to communicate using foreign languages in appropriate and culturally specific manners, and to reflect upon the role of language in human interactions and cultures.

The Department provides linguistic and cultural immersion experiences in the classroom, in the community, and abroad that expose students to and allow participation across a breadth of global cultures. The Department is committed to providing these opportunities to students at all levels through the college-wide language requirement, majors and minors in five languages, study abroad, and service learning.

The faculty of the Department of Modern Languages will use their training as scholars of language, literature, and culture to develop students' communication skills in understanding, speaking, reading, and writing and to provide students with the tools of textual interpretation so that students may engage with the discourses of our disciplines and with the challenges of cultural difference. Students minoring or majoring in Chinese, French, German, Japanese, and Spanish will use these tools to hone their linguistic skills and deepen their cultural understanding so that they may become more effective communicators and globally sensitive citizens.

When coupled with programs of supporting courses, the major sequence will satisfy the needs of students with widely differing goals: (1) those who desire a broad liberal arts education cutting across several areas of humane studies; (2) those who wish to complete a teaching major or minor in a particular language; (3) those who intend to continue their language studies in graduate

Certification For Teaching Modern Language

In addition to the professional education sequence of courses and 12 credits of student teaching (both required of all students wishing to be certified as teachers), students seeking certification to teach French, German, Spanish, Chinese, or Japanese in Wisconsin must have a major or minor in the language and complete these three additional requirements before they begin student teaching:

1. Successfully complete Methods and Materials in Teaching Modern Languages (MLA 4200).
2. Complete at least four weeks of immersion in the target culture (see below).
3. Achieve an ACTFL proficiency level of "Intermediate High" or better on the oral proficiency interview and the written proficiency test (see below).

The Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction requires those seeking certification in a modern language to complete an immersion experience in the target culture. For Modern Language majors, this will be met by the required semester abroad. Modern Language minors wishing to be certified to teach must document an immersion experience of at least four weeks. Students preparing to study abroad are urged to take MLA 2200 (required for majors).

Students who wish to be certified to teach French, German, Spanish, Chinese, and Japanese in Wisconsin must take the American Council on the Teaching of Foreign Languages (ACTFL) oral proficiency interview and the written proficiency test and receive a rating of "Intermediate High" or better prior to beginning their student teaching. Students should contact the Modern Languages Department as soon as they have decided to seek certification in French, German, Spanish, Chinese, or Japanese in order to receive information about preparing for the exam. The exams are given by examiners who are independent of the College. These examinations are arranged by the Departments of Modern Languages and Education and are paid for by the student.

Placement and Competency

Students who have studied a modern language and plan to continue their studies in that language will be placed at the appropriate level on the basis of previous courses and grades and/or a departmentally administered placement test. Students completing the Carthage course in which they were placed with at least a grade of "C" will be awarded credit for the preceding courses in the normal language sequence, to a maximum of 12 credits per language.

Carthage does not administer placement examinations or offer any form of credit by examination in languages not offered at the College. Carthage will recognize the results of proficiency examinations in modern languages administered by other colleges and universities if credit appears on an official transcript. All arrangements for, and costs related to, such examinations are the responsibility of the student.

Majors and minors in French, German, and Spanish are required to pass a target language competency exam during the term in which they take 3010.

An Overview: French, German, and Spanish Majors

Immersion in the linguistic and cultural setting of a foreign country is essential to the formation of a modern language major. Our programs for majors are structured around a requisite study abroad experience. The courses that modern language majors take prior to traveling abroad will prepare them both linguistically and culturally to profit from this experience. Students will immerse themselves in real communicative situations with people of other cultures to become culturally aware and linguistically proficient professionals in an interdependent world.

Students preparing to study abroad are urged to take MLA 2200.

Majors are required to study abroad over one term in an academic setting in a country where the target language is spoken. Classroom instruction for all courses, regardless of discipline, will be in the target language. Courses taken at foreign institutions are usually recorded on the student's Carthage transcript as GNR 3510. This is a global designation for experiential learning and courses that may be in History, Economics, Political Science, Linguistics, Art History, or a number of other fields supporting the MLA major. When faculty of any department agree, a specific course taken abroad may be accepted in lieu of a course in that department and be so noted on the student's transcript. Students are strongly urged to get such courses approved by Carthage faculty before taking them.

Prerequisite to apply for study abroad in modern language majors: MLA 2200, 3010, 3110, and either 3080 or 3090. (In exceptional cases, approval may be granted for substituting two summers for the term. Students are strongly urged to get such courses approved by the Carthage faculty before taking them.)

Music

Goals and Objectives

1. Offer substantial opportunities to the general student, through appropriate courses, performing ensembles, and private lessons, which will develop a love for and understanding of music, the ability to communicate that appreciation and understanding, and the means to continue life-long music experiences.
2. Develop comprehensive musicianship and provide career preparation, a basic mastery of the music discipline, and performance skills for music majors in a particular emphasis (core major, music education, music performance, music theater, piano pedagogy).
3. Enhance and enrich the cultural life of the campus community and the community at large through a regular and well-supported program that presents students, faculty, and guest musicians in recitals, concerts, and other musical events.
4. Participate in worship and liturgy and to assist in proclaiming the Gospel to the campus community and to the larger community.
5. Function as a center providing comprehensive opportunities to the surrounding communities for music study and for participation in music performance activities.

To realize these goals and objectives, the department offers academic courses, a variety of performance ensembles, class and private lessons, and on- and off-campus concerts. For those who would specialize in music, the program provides professional training wholly compatible with the College's liberal arts tradition.

An audition before members of the music faculty is required for entrance into the music major. At the end of their sophomore year, all music majors are evaluated for junior standing. They must show they have fulfilled repertoire requirements in their performance area through the sophomore year, and they must satisfactorily perform 15-20 minutes of music from that list. If this junior-standing jury is insufficient in either repertoire or performance, the faculty may admit the student provisionally to junior standing in the major or advise the student to discontinue the music major.

Recitals

Applied music students have opportunities nearly every week to participate in regular recitals, either within each studio or in department-wide recitals that feature students from all the performing areas. The department believes these recitals are important in broadening students' experience with live music and in expanding their knowledge of solo literature, and requires all who study applied music to attend them.

Students in the performance emphases must perform in studio and departmental recitals and must present two satisfactory solo recitals. Normally, they give a half-hour recital in the junior year and a full-hour recital in the senior year. Students in the music education emphasis give one half-recital in the junior or senior year. All recitals are presented only with permission of the music faculty, following a pre-recital jury. In order to satisfy the recital requirements of each emphasis, recitals must include an interesting and representative program and demonstrate a high level of performing competency.

Applied Music

The Music Department offers private and class instruction in applied music to music majors and minors, and within limitations of staff, to non-music majors as well. Music majors must take their applied music lessons within the Music Department unless the department approves an exception.

Neuroscience

Neuroscience is an interdisciplinary field dedicated to the scientific study of the structure and function of the nervous system. It encompasses issues such as the molecular and cellular basis of neuronal function, nervous system structure, neural correlates of behavior, and mechanisms of nervous system disorders.

The Neuroscience major reflects the interdisciplinary focus of the field. Required courses in the areas of biology, psychology, and chemistry provide a solid foundation for understanding the methods and principles of the natural and social sciences. The major also provides an opportunity for students to choose elective courses in the above areas. Students interested in the molecular and cellular function of the nervous system are encouraged to take electives in biology. Students interested in the behavioral correlates of nervous system function are encouraged to take electives in psychology. Students interested in the chemical properties of the nervous system are encouraged to take electives in chemistry. BIO 1100 is recommended for all students in the major.

The Neuroscience major provides both a breadth of understanding in basic scientific principles and depth of understanding in the emerging area of nervous system research, preparing students for graduate school and career opportunities in a diverse range of scientific research and medical/therapeutic fields.

Practical, hands-on research experience is an important component for understanding the discipline of neuroscience. Majors are encouraged to work in the laboratory of a faculty member for at least two semesters to experience the process of obtaining, analyzing, and interpreting neuroscience data.

NEU 3350 Neural Mechanisms of Stress (NLAB)

4cr

This course will follow the integrated Neuroscience model by combining information from biology, chemistry, and psychology to provide an understanding of the two neural mechanisms that regulate physical stress responses. One of these responses, known colloquially as the Flight or Fight Response, occurs through rapid changes in neurohormone levels in several brain regions that direct equally rapid changes of hormones in target tissues in the body. Formally this is the Sympathetic Adrenal Medullary (SAM) system and this mechanism evolved in mammals to respond to emergency situations. In contrast, the Hypothalamic-Pituitary-Adrenal (HPA) axis developed in mammals to respond on a slower, cyclic basis to daily events and chronic situations. The HPA axis is of particular research interest because the regulation of this system is vulnerable to fetal and early life events, and changes in HPA functioning in young organisms can result in enhanced or aberrant responses to perceptions of stress across the lifespan of the organism. Students in this course will read, discuss, and critique a range of research literature that examines these neural mechanisms in a variety of mammalian species, including humans.

Prerequisite: PYC 2100 or consent of instructor

Philosophy

At the core of any well-rounded life stands the ongoing task of examining, clarifying, and revising, where necessary, one's beliefs and values. The study of philosophy bears directly upon this enterprise. For this reason, all students engaged in liberal education are encouraged to take one or more basic courses in philosophy and even to consider a major or minor in philosophy.

Philosophy, in its broadest sense, is the sustained and thoughtful inquiry into the nature of the universe and the role of human beings within it. To this end, philosophy aims to develop students' capacity for independent, critical thinking and to acquaint them with humankind's efforts to carry out this investigation. The courses offered by the department emphasize both the mastery of the material and the development of skills, such as patient, careful reading; recognition, analysis, and evaluation of arguments; and the clear presentation and justification of one's own beliefs. Students thus become more capable of thinking independently.

Thirty-six credits are required for the major. With the consent of the chairperson of the Department of Philosophy, courses in other departments may be counted for a philosophy major.

A minor in philosophy consists of 24 credit hours in this discipline. With the chairperson's permission, certain courses with substantive philosophical content from other disciplines may count toward the minor.

PHL 1000 Introduction to Philosophy (HUM)

4cr

The course introduces the student to major problems discussed by key figures in the history of Western philosophy. Problems, such as the proof of God's existence, the nature of reality, and what counts as knowledge, are examined through a careful study of selected writings of Plato, Hume, and others. Basic skills of careful reading, critical analysis, and argumentative writing and discussion are stressed.
Fall/Spring

PHL 1100 Contemporary Ethical Issues (HUM)

4cr

This course introduces the student to methods of ethical thinking by applying them to specific issues such as abortion, human sexuality, nuclear weaponry, and preservation of the environment, among others. The course also examines the nature of morality itself and the central role that moral character plays in making moral decisions.
Fall

PHL 1200 The Art of Thinking (HUM)

4cr

This course aims at sharpening the critical thinking skills of the student by examining in some depth the nature of inductive reasoning, the fallacies that may be committed, and the nature of certain classical and contemporary forms of deductive argument.
Fall/Spring

PHL 1300 Philosophy and Literature (HUM)

4cr

This course, taught by a philosopher and a member of a language department when possible, examines philosophical concepts, insights, and positions as they emerge from the study of selected literary works. Issues such as the relationship between literary form and philosophical content also will be examined.

This course satisfies the Humanities or a second Religion requirement.

PHL 2750 Research Methods

4cr

An introduction on how to conduct research through the focus on one topic from the following disciplines: philosophy, religion, or classics. The class will focus on learning how to distinguish and evaluate primary and secondary sources; write a researched paper; recognize different approaches (theoretical) to a given topic; and become familiar with the work of representative classicists/philosophers/ theologians/historians.

PHL 3400 Homer's Iliad and Odyssey as Literature and Philosophy (HUM)

4cr

The Iliad and the Odyssey are the earliest texts of the Western tradition. Though everyone recognizes the sophistication of their poetic style and the breadth of their epic vision, too many readers have assumed that Homer composed in an oral tradition that had no conscious interest in philosophy or cultural critique. This course will investigate the philosophy that is embedded, implied, and elaborated in each epic as well as through a comparison of the two. Why is each story told so differently? How do Achilles, Agamemnon, Hector and Helen, compare to Odysseus, Telemachos, and Penelope? We will especially study Penelope for what she reveals about the Homeric view of ethics and epistemology, of what should be done and of what can be known.

PHL 3420 Socrates: Then and Now (HUM)

4cr

This course will investigate Socrates from three points of view. First, it will investigate the historical Socrates and his profound but vexed relationship to Athenian history in the fifth century. Next, the course will look at the philosophical Socrates, concentrating on the innovations that he brought to philosophy before people began to write about him: ethics, elenchus, irony, self-examination, independence, inwardness, and rationality. It will then study what subsequent classical philosophers made of the innovations and to what extent Socrates was eclipsed by their writings. Finally, it will look at the cultural Socrates beginning in the Renaissance rediscovery of him and continuing through the great reinvigoration of his significance for the problems of modernity.

PHL 3440 Herodotus and Thucydides: History, Philosophy, or Literature? (HUM)

4cr

Unlike previous writers, Herodotus and Thucydides attempted to explain human nature and human institutions through humanistic inquiry, not divine revelation. In this, they earned the claim to be the first historians. But is reading them as though they privileged the reporting of fact over imaginative interpretation to blind ourselves to much of what is best in them? Were they not also artists strongly influenced by the poets who had gone before? Herodotus, who traveled Greece entertaining people with his colorful stories, patterned himself on Homer and the Homeric bards. Thucydides, though scornful of romantic escapism, seems to have been bent on outdoing the tragic dramatists. And both seem to anticipate the philosophical concerns of Plato and Aristotle.

PHL 3460 Thoreau's Walden: the Practical, Poetic Life (HUM)

4cr

Few have ever tried so hard to lead as sincere and integrated a life as Thoreau as well as one that could be open to all who make the effort. In Walden: Or Life in the Woods, the great American writer Henry David Thoreau does not report wonders that only a few lucky people could experience, but the wonders that are around every man or woman who is awake to the world. If you are interested in philosophy that can be applied to your life, are keen to study the writing of one of the best American writers, or are passionate about nature and environmentalis, this is a course for you. We will be spending most of our time on a careful and thorough reading of Walden, but students will be asked to become authorities in some aspect of the text that most interests them. Students from all disciplines are encouraged. Class time will be devoted to discussion, and grades will rest on the writing of four or five short papers.

POL 1030 Introduction to Comparative Politics (SOC)

4cr
This course is an introduction to the study of comparative politics. The first half of the term focuses on the nature of comparative politics while the second half looks at a range of specific countries. The readings and assignments do not merely consider governmental institutions but the broader range of political activity, ranging from grassroots organizing to social movements and formal political participation.
Fall

POL 1040 Introduction to Public Policy (SOC)

4cr
Introduction to Public Policy examines the actions undertaken by government. The course explores theoretical explanations and justifications for government actions, as well as quantitative and qualitative techniques for evaluating alternative courses of government action. These theories and concepts will be used to analyze specific policy issues and the political environments in which they exist.

POL 1050 Introduction to International Relations (SOC)

4cr
This course offers an introduction to the major concepts and theories in international politics and their application to the events of the postwar world, particularly the Cold War and the North-South conflict. Attention is also given to disruptive forces in the international community, such as the nuclear arms race and ethnic conflict, as well as those forces, such as the United Nations, that contribute to world order.
Fall

POL 1070 Introduction to Political Theory (SOC)

4cr
This course will introduce the student to a variety of political theorists. Included would likely be theorists such as Aristotle, St. Thomas, Machiavelli, Locke, Madison, etc., as well as more contemporary theorists such as Rawls and Nozick. The empirical and normative features of theories will be identified and examined. The course also will focus on how effective or adequately theories integrate critically necessary, yet apparently inconsonant political principles and values.

POL 1900 Constitutional Rights: Freedom of Expression (SOC)

4cr
The assertion of a right to freedom of expression has come to refer broadly to a variety of rights which find their support in guarantees provided by the First and Fourteenth Amendments of the U.S. Constitution. The term "expression" has come to be a generic reference to rights such as speech, press, assembly, protest, strike, symbolic speech, artistic expression, etc. Judgments respecting the acceptability of instances of various forms of expression have been determined by judicial standards such as bad tendency, clear and present danger, fighting words, balancing, etc. These matters will be explored through the reading of Supreme Court decisions and the discussions that these decisions have provoked.

POL 1910 Law and Society

4cr
Law and Society introduces how disputes are authoritatively resolved and how the mechanisms for resolving disputes actually work. Students will examine legal institutions (the Bar, courts, prisons, interest groups), rules (bills of rights, criminal procedure, contract law), and participants (parties, judges, prosecutors, police, attorneys) and ask when, why, and how they come into play. The course will also investigate the potential for bias in law and the uses of law as a tool for political and social change.

POL 2050 Philosophical Foundations of Political Economy (SOC)

4cr
An introduction to the philosophical foundations of political economy from classical times through the Enlightenment and to the modern era. Students will read, discuss, and analyze the works of both European political economists (Smith, Ricardo, Mill, and Marx) and American thinkers and statesmen in the field (Jefferson, Mason, Hamilton, and Madison).

POL 3030 Women of Africa (SOC)

4cr

The study of the countries in Africa has frequently focused on public events: colonialism, political change, war, government actions, and the formal economy. In recent years, researchers have begun to explore in more depth how women's lives are impacted by these events, and how women in Africa are active participants in the various sectors of their societies.

This course will look at life in various African countries through the eyes of women and will examine how women of Africa actively engage in and are affected by political, cultural, and economic events both domestically and internationally. Themes will include: human rights issues of women; the impact of modernity and tradition on women's lives; images of appropriate female behavior; economic hardship and survival techniques; cultural issues surrounding marriage and motherhood; women's participation in the public spheres of their countries.

POL 3040 African Transitions (SOC)

4cr

African countries and peoples have often been examined through the lenses of European and North American cultures. These analyses have sometimes been helpful and other times have resulted in inaccurate portrayals of African life and people. This course uses texts written predominantly by African authors from various parts of the continent to provide African perspectives of transitions that have occurred on the continent. These transitions include: the transition from traditional life to colonial rule; the shift to independence; attempts at democratization; adaptations rural Africans make when moving to urban areas; and the clashes between Western and African cultures that continue today. Using themes of governance, community and reference groups to examine different African cultures, the course incorporates theories and concepts from the disciplines of political science and sociology.

POL 3100 The Logic of Political Inquiry (SOC)

4cr

This class is an introduction to the research process in political science. Questions about the history and structure of the discipline, how inquiry is framed by philosophical assumptions, and the role of observation and experimental design are all examined. Students will use their understanding of these issues to plan a research project, collect and analyze data, and effectively present their findings. This class is a direct link to the Senior Seminar/Senior Thesis.

Prerequisite: Junior Standing
Spring

POL 3200 Women and Politics (SOC)

4cr

This class is an examination of the political roles and activities of women internationally. Exploring cultural, religious, racial, economic, and social constraints, as well as opportunities for women's involvement in politics, the course will keep in mind theory and practice as well as the problems in specific countries. Attention will be given to how the discipline defines political participation, how various feminists may influence change, and what it means to look for "common differences".

This course examines the origin and development of Latin American political institutions by exploring the history, politics, economics, and social issues of the region. While examining the remaining effects of colonialism on Latin America, this course also investigates questions of political and economic development and dependency, democratization, political culture and relations with extra-regional actors. Individual countries will be examined as a way to discuss the status and prospect of democracies and dictatorships in the region.

POL 3370 Russia/East European Politics (SOC)

4cr

This course will focus on the changes that have occurred in the countries that occupy the territory of the former Soviet Union and Eastern Europe. The newly independent states that succeeded the disintegration of the former Soviet Union are still struggling with the Soviet legacy. We will explore whether the successor states will be able to throw off their past and become "successful" independent countries.

POL 3380 West European Politics (SOC)

4cr

This course will focus on Western Europe's historical experience, the organization of its decision-making institutions, and its electoral politics after 1945, with a largely contemporary emphasis. The country or countries that receive the most attention will vary from topic to topic. In general, the approach will be comparative across countries. This course will also explore the European Union by examining its history, institutions, policies, and future.

Finally, students will examine the environmental and social costs of rapid growth.

POL 3400 Chinese Politics (SOC)

4cr

Chinese Politics surveys the organization and policies of the post-1949 Chinese state, with a focus on state-building, economic reform, and the problems created by economic change. The course covers both the Maoist and Reform periods and explores politics and policy in a Leninist party-state that has organized its economy using market mechanisms.

POL 3450 Global Poverty

4cr

While the focus of this course will be theoretical, the class will begin by introducing some general background information on global stratification. We will examine the geography of stratification (i.e. which countries are rich, which countries are poor, etc.). The basic demographics of poverty will also be explored. Particular attention will be paid to infant mortality rates, life expectancy rates, health care quality and access, education, the status of women, and the availability of foreign and domestic assistance. Finally, we will analyze various concepts of poverty, measures of poverty, and different kinds of stratification systems.

POL 3510 Campaigns and Elections (SOC)

POL 3600 International Security (SOC)

4cr

With the fall of the Berlin Wall in 1989 and the end of the Cold War in 1991, the world seemed to become a less threatening place and there was hope that a "New World Order" would bring peace and prosperity to all the world's inhabitants. Only a few years later the events in Bosnia, Somalia, Rwanda, and Kosovo, among others, have made some ask how the New World Order differs from the old Cold War Order. Are we really more secure? This course will explore what it really means to be "secure" by examining some of the sources of conflict and instability that exist in the world today.

Spring

POL 3610 Nuclear Proliferation (SOC)

4cr

Is it important for a country to acquire nuclear weapons? This is the question with which countries both with and without nuclear weapons currently are dealing. This course will explore the costs and benefits of acquiring nuclear weapons both to the country trying to gain them, and the countries that have to deal with the new nuclear power(s). Moreover, if the world community has come to the conclusion that we do not want more countries to possess them, how can the acquisition of nuclear weapons and materials be prevented?

POL 3620 Environmental Politics (SOC)

4cr

This course introduces students to important theoretical and policy issues in the study and practice of environmental politics. It is designed to provide a better understanding of past, present, and future events by: a) framing environmental issues within various theories of political science; b) introducing prominent actors, institutions and issues; and c) examining recent attempts to create effective institutions to address specific environmental problems. Fall/Spring

REL 2000 History of Christian Thought (REL)

4cr

REL 2010 Jewish Bible-Old Testament (REL)

4cr

Concentrating on representative sampling of texts from the Torah (Law), Prophets, and Writings, students will be introduced to the current methods of Biblical studies. Attention will be directed to the historical periods in which this literature developed and to the basic theological concepts in the literature. Students will also become acquainted with the history of Israel, prominent Hebrew leaders, covenants, laws, and worship practices of Hebrew life.

REL 2020 The Gospels (REL)

Inquiry into the writings and activities of the earliest desert-dwelling monastic is followed by readings from such great mystics of the middle ages as Teresa of Avila, Meister Eckhart, Julian of Norwich, and John of the Cross. These are supplemented by the works of contemporary advocates of the inner life, including Thomas Greene, Henri Nouwen and Thomas Merton. Literature study is balanced by practical exploration of Christian and other forms of prayer and meditation, and with dialogue in religious communities with monks and nuns who have elected a contemplative lifestyle.

REL 2070 Understandings of Love (REL)

4cr

The course is a study of understandings of love, expressions of love, and failures to love in the light of Biblical, Christian, Jewish, and Muslim traditions, and in the light of contemporary experience. Special attention is given to exploring the dynamics of liking, romantically loving, romance, sexuality, intimacy, and mature, disciplined love. The course aims at opening participants to the many rewards awaiting persons, couples, families, and communities that cultivate an understanding and observance of the distinction between love as romance and love as disciplined intervention to foster the welfare of another. This is achieved through reading, analysis, and debate of several case studies using a collection of diverse interpretive models.

Spring

REL 3010 Post-Exilic Judaism (REL)

4cr

Students will explore such topics as: Messianic expectations, apocalyptic Judaism, the Dead Sea Scrolls, Philo, the expansion of the law, and the emergence of Christianity. This range of issues will focus students on that period of Israel's life not specifically covered by study of the biblical texts.

REL 3020 Women and the Bible (REL)

4cr

Students will have the opportunity to analyze modern-day debates about creation, evolution, and the end of the world based on their interaction with these ancient texts and ideas.

REL 3040 Church History (HUM)

4cr

A study of the Christian Church from apostolic times to the present with special attention to the sociological, economic, psychological, and doctrinal factors in its development. While primary emphasis is placed on the Western European tradition, consideration is given to the worldwide development of Christianity. A background of world history or religion is beneficial.

REL 3050 Images of Aging and Spirituality (REL)

4cr

Readings in Western Literature from ancient to modern times will probe both the readers' and the authors' religious and spiritual foundations for attitudes toward aging. A Gerontological analysis of contemporary social stereotypes will challenge students to identify the sources and define the effects of those stereotypes on both our environment and ourselves. Students will gain skill in discovering and refining their own attitudes toward aging, their relationship toward aging people, and an awareness of the influence of culture on common attitudes. Students will seek to understand the phenomenon of spirituality, both within and aside from major religions, and to understand attitudes toward spirituality as they relate to self-described successful aging.

REL 3090 African American Religion

4cr

The experience of African slaves in North America - from the time of capture off the Guinea Coast of Africa to becoming American citizens - is one of the most intriguing phenomena in American history. This course examines the crucial and ambiguous role of religion in that transformation process. The major thesis of the course is that a proper understanding of African American religion stems from knowledge of the African religious heritage of the slaves. Thus a large section of the course is devoted to the study of African traditional religion. The mutual impact of Christianity and African traditional religion in the context of North American slavery also receives substantial attention.

REL 3100 Judaism (REL)

4cr

This course is an introduction to the self-definition of Judaism. It will analyze Judaism by examining such central concepts as God, Torah, and Israel. This central self-definition will then be tested by means of close readings of representative texts, and by investigating the range of Jewish history. The course will also examine significant events which shaped 20th century Judaism, including the creation of the State of Israel, the Holocaust, and modern American Jewish movements.

REL 3110 Hinduism (REL)

4cr

This course will provide an in-depth introduction to those social, philosophical, and religious phenomena that western observers have called Hinduism. The first part of the course will focus on religious texts, as we explore the roots of the tradition and the flowering of the devotional movement. The latter part of the course will focus more on modern Hindu life, in an attempt to give some appreciation of its religious quality. This process will provide some opportunity to reflect on the nature and meaning of religious life, and to consider the ways in which the faith of these men and women can inform our own lives.

REL 3120 Islam (REL)

4cr

This course will provide an in-depth introduction to the world of Islam, the most recent of the great faiths tracing its descent from the prophet Abraham. The beginning of the course will examine the roots and development of Islam, and the gradual growth of Islamic institutions. The latter part of the course will focus on modern Muslim life, partly on its individual dimensions, in an effort to convey some appreciation for its religious quality, and to consider the ways in which the faith of these men and women can inform our own lives; but more pointedly on the political influence of Islam, and the ways in which growth of Islamic revivalism has shaped and continues to shape the world in which we live.

REL 3130 Buddhism (REL)

4cr

An intensive look at the world's oldest missionary religion, from its origin in the Ganges basin in 500 BCE to its contemporary manifestations. The course's primary emphasis will be on the historical development of the tradition, and the ways that its message has been transformed through the influence of different cultures, including the United States. An important part of this will be closely examining the Buddhist way of life throughout the centuries, and the ways in which this ancient message is still relevant in the modern world.

REL 3140 East Asian Religions (REL)

4cr

An intensive look at religion in East Asia, focusing both on the region's indigenous religious traditions - Confucianism, Daoism, and Shinto - as well as Buddhism, its best-known and most successful transplant. The primary emphasis will be on the historical development of these traditions, their mutual influence on one another, and the way that their values have shaped and continue to shape the cultures in which they appear. This process will provide some opportunity to reflect on the nature and meaning of religious life, and to consider the ways in which the faith of these men and women can inform our own lives.

REL 3150 The Sikhs (REL)

4cr

This course will trace the history and development of the Sikh religious community. The early part of the course will focus on its origins in the Punjab, the social, political, and religious forces shaping its development in the milieu, and the community's evolution over time. The course will then examine nineteenth and twentieth century Sikh efforts to stress their identity as a distinct religious community, both inside and outside of India. Finally, the course will look at contemporary Sikh piety and practice, in an effort to convey some appreciation for its religious message, and to consider the ways in which Sikh faith and concerns can illuminate and inform our own. Prerequisite: REL 1000 or instructor permission.

REL 3310 Greek Religions (REL)

4cr

Like most ancient peoples, the Greeks believed that a pantheon of heavenly, sublunar, and subterranean divinities controlled or supervised every detail of life on earth, and they often went to great extremes to appease certain of these gods and goddesses. In this course we will consider the history and practice of Greek religions in the public sphere and the relationship between religious practices, rites and beliefs and the rich body of Greek myth. Prerequisite: REL 1000 or consent of instructor

REL 3320 Roman Religions (REL)

4cr

Like most ancient peoples, the Romans believed that a pantheon of heavenly, sublunar, and subterranean divinities controlled every detail of life on earth, and they often went to great extremes to appease certain of these gods and goddesses. Prerequisite: REL 1000 or consent of instructor

REL 3350 Religion and Society (REL)

4cr

Students will examine various perspectives on the relationship between religion and society. This study will encourage students to explore such diverse themes as the relationship of religion and the state; national and global economic structures; ethics; counter-cultural religious movements; and the religious principles which may undergird a social matrix. 4cr

Selected topics illustrating the mutual involvement of religion and society in India since the 16th century. Major themes will include Hindu devotional movements, the rise and development of the Sikhs, Hindu reform movements, Islamic self-definition, the rise of nationalistic (or independence) movements in each of these three groups, and responses to the pressures of globalization.

REL 3400 Biblical Images of Christ (REL)

4cr

The Christologies of the New Testament will be examined both by investigating their background in the history of religions and by analyzing the images of Christ presented in various documents of the New Testament (e.g., Mark, John, Paul, Hebrews). Specific attention will be given to christological titles and to the pre-Christian figures with whom Jesus is identified.

REL 3700 The Dead Sea Scrolls (REL)

4cr

Through a careful examination of some of the texts discovered at Qumran on the Dead Sea, students will investigate the history and theology of the Jewish sect known as the Essenes. This investigation will include an examination of the archaeological evidence uncovered at the site as well as an analysis of the relationship of this community with other contemporary Jewish sects (the Pharisees and the Sadducees). In addition, students will examine possible points of contact between the Essenes and early Christian communities.

Social Science*Social Science Major (56 credits):

The Social Science Major emphasizes breadth over depth in the social sciences and is primarily intended for students who are also pursuing teacher certification with a minor in Secondary Education.

Social Science majors select a core department from the following list: Geography, History, Political Science, Sociology, Economics, or Psychology. They must earn 24 credits in the core department including an upper division seminar, colloquium, theory, and/or research course. The senior thesis is also done in the core department. Additional core requirements can be obtained from the department.

The remaining 32 credits are restricted to the following departments not covered by the core: Geography, History, Political Science, Psychology, Sociology, or Economics. No more than 8 credits can be from any one department. Broadfield Social Science certification requires at least 4 credits from each of the above areas.

More specific details can be obtained from the Social Science Program Director or the specific departmental advisor for the core area. Prospective social science teachers need to consult with the education faculty advisor regarding certification requirements.

Please note that there is no teaching minor for Broadfield Social Science. Students wishing for teacher certification need to minor in Secondary Education.

SSC 4200 Teaching of Social Science

4cr

A survey of current literature, curricular trends, and developments in methods of teaching junior and senior high school social studies. Required for teaching certification in any of the social sciences, or for the Wisconsin Social Studies Broad Fields Teaching major. Special schedule.

Social Work

The undergraduate major in social work prepares students for beginning professional social work practice and is fully accredited by the Council on Social Work Education.

Admission to Social Work Program

Students may apply for admission after completion of SWK 2300 with a grade of "B" or better and should submit the Social Work admission form and three references to department chair Ruth Fangmeier. All forms are found on the social work website. Students must maintain a cumulative GPA of 2.50 on a 4.0 scale at the time of admission and throughout their academic career. In addition, they must obtain grades no lower than "C-" in required courses for the social work major.

Students must complete a declaration of major form (from the Registrar's office) and be assigned to a social work department faculty advisor; obtain a copy of current transcript (unofficial copy is available at no charge in the Registrar's Office); complete the writing skills assessment administered by the Writing Center; and schedule an admissions interview with a committee of the social work faculty.

Prior to acceptance into senior level courses, faculty will review students' evaluations and commitment to pursue Senior Field Placement. To enroll in senior classes, students must demonstrate social work skills, values, and ethics in supervisory practice and academic settings. Academic and non-academic performance requirements are defined on the social work website. Non-academic standards measure a student's "likely performance as a social work generalist practitioner." Termination from the program is based on the student's failure to demonstrate professional conduct and behavior consistent with the values and ethics of the profession. However, knowledge, skill, and value expectations are all academic in a professional program.

**It is very important that all transfer students see the department chair immediately upon acceptance to Carthage. The Social Work Program does not offer course credit for life experience or previous work experience.

Sociology

Sociology, which is the science of society, examines social patterns and social change wherever found: in small groups; in a range of political, economic, and cultural organizations; in whole societies; and in world systems. It liberates our thinking from a host of social myths. It reveals the social forces constraining our lives and discloses the critical play of economic, racial, and gender inequalities. The sociological imagination illuminates the roots of social problems and devises potential remedies. It probes the links between historical eras and personal biographies, between social structures and private lives. This modern mode of thought is useful in diverse walks of life, which benefit from an informed, critical view of the society's master, middle-range, and minor institutions.

African countries and peoples have often been examined through the lenses of European and North American cultures. These transitions include: the transition from traditional life to colonial rule; the shift to independence; attempts at democratization; adaptations rural Africans make when moving to urban areas; and the clashes between Western and African cultures that continue today. Fall/SpringTheatre

Theatre at Carthage has a rich tradition, and never has the department been better positioned to cultivate and empower ambitious students of the theatre arts than today. Carthage's proximity to both Chicago and Milwaukee gives students access to some of America's best regional theatre. College-sponsored trips, such as Carthage's annual trip to the Stratford Shakespeare Festival in Stratford, Ontario, and J-Term trips to Ireland, Greece, New York City, and Berlin, expose students to great theatre beyond the Midwest.

Majors are available in several areas:

- General Major
- Performance
- Technical Production and Design (Emphasis in: Scenic Design, Costume Design, and Stage Management)
- Music Theatre (an interdisciplinary major with the Music Department)

Students may also minor in theatre or in dance. Additionally, Carthage offers certification in Theatre Education.

The Department of Theatre, its courses, and its seasons are central to Carthage's liberal arts curriculum, and the program helps students from all disciplines to become sophisticated audience members and skillful communicators. Theatre forms a lens through which to examine all areas of human behavior, including religion, politics, history, psychology and art.

Mission Statement

The Mission of Carthage College Theatre is to guide, encourage, and cultivate students as they flourish into mature, well-rounded, and capable theatre artists and critics. It seeks to produce excellent, diverse, innovative theatre that educates, challenges, entertains, and addresses the needs of the full Carthage community. Vital to the liberal arts tradition, a Carthage theatre education enables students to contribute meaningfully to both the world of theatre and the world at large.

The Carthage Theatre experience encompasses:

Examining and presenting truths pleasant and unpleasant concerning the human condition through theatre.

Recognizing and responsibly wielding theatre's powers – a vitality rooted in the fact that all men and women are inexorably linked through humanity's story.

Engaging and mastering a significant body of knowledge connected to theatre practice – performance, dance theory and technique, dramatic literature, stagecraft, and theatre history.

Communicating effectively on-, off-, and backstage, ably engaging texts and people critically and compassionately.

Embracing theatre artistry as a lifelong pursuit rooted in a love of learning and an openness to diverse ideas.

Shaping and cultivating his/her faith, values, and philosophy, utilizing theatre as a vehicle for exploration and growth.

Becoming an informed and responsive citizen, deploying theatre to seek solutions to problems in the community, the nation, and the world.

Entering the world of theatre, education, or a related field (i.e. any field) as free men and women, committed to and equipped for service and continued growth.

Theatre Major Admission Policy

An audition and interview or a portfolio presentation and interview before members of the theatre faculty are required for entrance into any of the theatre majors. At the end of their sophomore year, all theatre majors are evaluated for junior standing. Students must have a GPA of 2.5 or better within their theatre major; demonstrate participation in and commitment to the co-curricular elements of the theatre program, and have fulfilled the necessary service requirements to the department. If this junior standing jury is insufficient in any area, the faculty may choose to admit the student provisionally to junior standing in the major or advise the student to discontinue the theatre major.

Women's and Gender Studies

Women's and Gender Studies at Carthage is an interdisciplinary program that focuses on the roles that women, race, gender, and ethnicity play in an increasingly more diverse global world. The minor in Women's and Gender Studies introduces students at the undergraduate level to some of the most important ways in which the study of women and gender has transformed how other disciplines (sociology, political science, social work, history, art and anthropology) address how and why gender, race, and ethnicity matter in society and human history.

The program exposes students to a new body of knowledge that asks students to examine unexamined attitudes that influence how gender, race, and ethnicity shape today's global society. The minor promotes critical thinking and effective communication skills that allows the student to engage in an increasingly more diverse world. It is also a strong selling point in an age where companies increasingly require their employees to be conversant on issues relating to diversity and tolerance and for any career demanding synthetic and creative, critical thinking skills.

The minor consists of five courses (18 credits): three required and two electives.

Minor:

- WMG 1100 Introduction to Women's and Gender Studies (4 cr.)
  - WMG 3110 Women's and Gender Studies Theory (4 cr.)

  - WMG 3500 Global Poverty (4 cr.)

WMG 1100 Introduction to Women's and Gender Studies

4cr
This course will begin by drawing a distinction between biology (the body) and current theories of gender (culture and biology). Leaving the definition of sexuality unresolved (because irresolvable), the course, using a variety of disciplinary approaches, concentrates on Western cultures interpretations of Woman and Man as cultural symbols.
Fall

WMG 2450 Race, Gender, and Sex in Greece and Rome (HUM)

4cr

In sum, the course deals with definitions of gender, sexuality, race, ethnicity, and "otherness" in general (using both modern and ancient definitions).

WMG 2530 Racial and Cultural Minorities

4cr
Examines the sociological, economic, and psychological nature of the relationships between racial and ethnic groups with differential access to political and economic power. Focus is on the United States, with some discussion of racism, cultural discrimination, and sexism in other parts of the world.

WMG 2910 Constitutional Law II: Civil Rights and Civil Liberties (SOC)

4cr

Prerequisite: Sophomore standing
Spring

WMG 3020 Women and the Bible (HUM)

4cr
This course is an opportunity to study the situation of women at the time of the Biblical writings, to investigate evidence for how women were treated in the earliest Christian churches, and to take seriously the impact that the interpretation of Biblical texts has had on women's social roles throughout history and in our own day.

WMG 3030 Women of Africa

4cr
The study of the countries in Africa has frequently focused on public events: colonialism, political change, war, government actions, and the formal economy. In recent years, researchers have begun to explore in more depth how women's lives are impacted by these events, and how women in Africa are active participants in the various sectors of their societies.
This course will look at life in various African countries through the eyes of women and will examine how women of Africa actively engage in and are affected by political, cultural, and economic events both domestically and internationally. Themes will include: human rights issues of women; the impact of modernity and tradition on women's lives; images of appropriate female behavior; economic hardship and survival techniques; cultural issues surrounding marriage and motherhood; women's participation in the public spheres of their countries.

WMG 3040 African Transitions

4cr

African countries and peoples have often been examined through the lenses of European and North American cultures. These analyses have sometimes been helpful and other times have resulted in inaccurate portrayals of African life and people. This course uses texts written predominantly by African authors for various parts of the continent to provide African perspectives of transitions that have occurred on the continent. These transitions include: the transition from traditional life to colonial rule; the shift to independence; attempts at democratization; adaptations rural Africans make when moving to urban areas; and the clashes between Western and African cultures that continue today. Using themes of governance, community and reference groups to examine different African cultures, the course incorporates theories and concepts from the disciplines of political science and sociology.

WMG 3090 Literatures of Diversity (HUM)

4cr

Each offering in this rotating selection of courses explores a single diverse ethnic literature, such as African-American, Asian-American, Hispanic-American, and Native American. While content will vary according to the discretion of the instructor, this group of courses is united by a common desire to read a diverse literature according to its own heritage double-voiced as it is further complicated by issues of gender and class. To this end, a course in Native American literature, for example, might begin with a study of the creation myths in the oral tradition, then move to historical, anthropological, autobiographical, and fictional accounts of the Native American experience as the two (often conflicting) voices of Native American and American describe it.

WMG 3100 Literature and Gender (HUM)

4cr

In this course the literature chosen for study will reflect issues relevant to considerations of gender. In some instances, works will be chosen in order to explore the idea of how literature portrays what it means to be male or female. In other instances, literature will be chosen in order to explore how writers of one gender portray characters of the opposite gender. In some instances the choice of literature will be based on extending awareness of writers who, because of their gender, have not historically been included within the canon. The historical and social contexts of these works will be an integral part of the conversation within the course.

WMG 3110 Women's and Gender Studies Theory

4cr

This is a reading seminar that will investigate the writings of feminist theorists as well as the critical questions raised by feminism pertinent to the academic disciplines. "Sexes (gender), difference between the sexes, man, woman, race, black, white, nature are at the core of [the straight minds'] set of parameters. They have shaped our concepts, our laws, our institutions, our history, and our cultures. To reexamine the parameters on which universal thought is founded requires a reevaluation of all the basic tools of analysis, including dialectics. Not in order to discard it, but to make it more effective" (Monique Wittig). This course will examine the feminist critique of culture as a way of examining our philosophical heritage and as a way of understanding the relationship of culture to academic inquiry.

Prerequisite: There are no prerequisites for this course. For minors, it is recommended that students first take Introduction to Women's and Gender Studies, then their elective credits, then this course

WMG 3150 Women in the Literary and Visual Arts (HUM)

4cr

While doing library research on 'women' for her guest lecture at Newnham and Girton colleges in 1928, the disconcerted Virginia Woolf learned that "it was impossible for any woman, past, present, or to come, to have the genius of Shakespeare . . . Cats do not go to heaven. Women cannot write the plays of Shakespeare." Women in the Visual and Literary Arts takes up that famous feminist's concern: WHY have there been no famous women artists? HAVE there been none?? Now Women in the Visual and Literary Arts investigates women's artistic work alongside those cultural forces that have shaped it. The course begins by establishing the historical context for women's artistic expression. This includes the major events defining the moment in history and the material conditions that characterize it. Also included with each period will be some of those major voices that have achieved canonical status, as well as those women artists, writers, and performers who have been omitted from history.

WMG 3200 Women and Politics (SOC)

4cr

This class is an examination of the political roles and activities of women internationally. Exploring cultural, religious, racial, economic, and social constraints, as well as opportunities for women's involvement in politics, the course will keep in mind theory and practice as well as the problems in specific countries. Attention will be given to how the discipline defines political participation, how various feminists may influence change, and what it means to look for "common differences".

Fall

WMG 3350 Human Rights

4cr

This course examines the politics of human rights and the changing nature of sovereignty in the international system. To do this we will explore the major threats to human rights in the contemporary world as well as the cultural and political obstacles to international consensus on human rights norms. Finally, we will attempt to determine the appropriate mechanisms for their implementation.

WMG 3450 Contemporary Issues in Sex and Gender (SOC)

4cr

This course is an examination of the interaction of the endocrine system and nervous system and the resultant effect on behavior. Gender and sex-related differences are studied from a biological and an environmental perspective. Crosslisted as NEU 3450.

Prerequisite: PYC 2100 or consent of instructor

WMG 3500 Global Poverty

4cr

While the focus of this course will be theoretical, the class will begin by introducing some general background information on global stratification. It will examine the geography of stratification (i.e. which countries are rich, which countries are poor, etc.). The basic demographics of poverty will also be explored. Particular attention will be paid to infant mortality rates, life expectancy rates, health care quality and access, education, the status of women, and the availability of foreign and domestic assistance. Finally, it will analyze various concepts of poverty, measures of poverty, and different kinds of stratification systems.

Prerequisite: SOC 1000

WMG 4010 Senior Seminar

4cr

A member of those who teach in Women's and Gender Studies will teach and direct student thesis/projects, with the assistance of others who teach in WMG. The seminar will lead the student toward the completion of the Senior Thesis/Project, the topic of which will be determined by the student and directing professor.

WMG 4090 Capstone Course

2cr

The WMG Capstone course is a two-credit experience, in which the students may choose to pursue any field related to issues addressed in any of the four previous courses they have taken and pursue the learning experience a step further. The student may choose to express this advanced stage of learning in a variety of ways, including a research project, practicum, internships, or other method proposed by the student. Capstone projects will be arranged as independent studies or as scheduled courses, depending on demand.

Graduate Academic Program of Study

The Master of Education program at Carthage fosters intellectual and professional learning opportunities within the context of a liberal arts education. Classes enable teachers to keep abreast of current issues relating to education such as curricula, counseling, guidance, and administration. Initial licensure is available in Education Administration and Reading. A program of study may be devised for add-on licenses.

After admission to the graduate school, an individualized program of study will be developed by the student and advisor. The graduate program will accept no more than 12 transfer credits earned at another institution within the past five years prior to the filing of the program of study. A Program of Studies (POS) form must be completed and submitted to the graduate school. The program consists of 36 credits of course work. Master's Thesis EDU 5500 or EDU 5490 Integrative Seminar as well as EDU 5060 Philosophical Foundations may be included in the 36 credits of course work. Individuals are required to enroll in courses at the 5000 level or above. No continuing education credits will be counted toward a master's degree.

Upon completion of course work necessary for a concentration, students must sign up for EDU 5490 Integrative project or EDU 5500 Master's Thesis. Students will be granted two terms to successfully finish the project or thesis as well as other requirements for the master's degree. If students go beyond the two semesters they must again register for EDU 5490 or EDU 5500 and maintain continuous registration until they have completed the thesis or project.

Eligible candidates must hold a valid education license or be licensed as a school counselor, school psychologist or a school social worker and have at least three years and 540 hours of successful experience in these areas. The program’s capstone course is the seminar and practicum in field experience as a principal, which will be the foundation for the master’s thesis. The program can be completed in two years by taking two courses per term. Students who already possess a master’s degree and who wish to gain the Wisconsin Principal #51 license will need to complete the required courses only. Degree Seeking: All part-time students interested in earning an undergraduate degree must apply for degree status. To apply for degree status, submit an application for part-time enrollment, a nonrefundable $10 application fee, and official college transcripts of all prior college course work. Students who have never attended college must submit official high school transcripts.

Non-Degree Seeking: Applicants who do not plan to earn a degree but wish to take courses for personal or professional enrichment should apply for non-degree status. To apply for non-degree status, submit an application and the nonrefundable $10 application fee. High school/college transcripts are not required.

Admission to Carthage

Carthage offers educational opportunities for full-time or part-time students in both undergraduate and graduate programs. Students interested in full-time, undergraduate study may obtain more information and an application by calling the Office of Admissions at 262-551-6000 or 800-351-4058, or by contacting the office in person or by mail:

Office of Admissions
Carthage
2001 Alford Park Drive
Kenosha, WI 53140-1994

Students interested in part-time or graduate study should contact the Office of Adult Education at 800-551-5343 or 262-551-6300.

Carthage welcomes students of all races and religious preferences.

Students considering Carthage are encouraged to visit the campus. The Carthage Office of Admissions is open year-round, Monday through Friday, with group visit days on most Saturdays during the school year.

Reservations are recommended. These visits include a student-led campus tour and a meeting with an admissions and financial aid representative. If pre-arranged, your visit also may include meetings with professors and coaches, or an opportunity to observe a class.

Admission to the Undergraduate Program

Freshmen and transfer students usually enter in the Fall Term, but applications also are considered for terms beginning in January, February, and June. The College operates on a year-round calendar and accepts applications on a rolling admission basis. Applications are immediately reviewed upon completion. High school seniors who wish to enter Carthage during the Fall Term are strongly encouraged to apply by December of their senior year. A nonrefundable application fee of $35 must accompany the application. A waiver of this fee is possible if the applicant demonstrates financial limitation and submits the College Board application fee waiver, usually sent by the student's high school guidance office. The application fee also is waived for children and grandchildren of Carthage alumni.

Freshman Entrance Requirements

During the evaluation process, admissions representatives consider all aspects of a student's academic background. Primary emphasis focuses on the secondary school record, including the number and nature of courses completed, grade point average in academic courses, rank in class, and scores from the ACT (American College Testing program) or the SAT I (Scholastic Assessment Testing program). Carthage will accept these scores from your official high school transcript.

Students graduating from an accredited secondary school with a strong college preparatory background are best prepared for academics at Carthage. The College strongly recommends that students complete a minimum of 16 academic units in high school, including English, foreign language, science, mathematics, and social studies.

High school students should submit the following when applying for admission: (1) a completed application; (2) an official high school transcript; (3) official results from the SAT or ACT program; and (4) a $35 application fee.

All freshman applicants are encouraged to apply by Dec. 3 of their senior year in high school.

Early Review/Early Notification (EREN) Program

Students who have completed three years of high school may apply early for admission under the EREN program. Applications must be received by mid-July and students are notified of their admission status in late September.

Applications, transcripts, and other credentials become part of the permanent file of the College and may not be returned or forwarded.

Once a student has been admitted to Carthage, an advance payment of $300 is requested to hold a place in the entering class. For students starting in the Fall Term, this deposit is completely refundable up to May 1 of the initial year of attendance. The deposit is nonrefundable after Nov. 1 for the Spring Term and Summer Sessions.

Early Admission

It is possible for a student to be accepted for admission to Carthage after completing secondary school in three years. On the basis of outstanding academic achievement, a student may be admitted to the College in lieu of completing the senior year of secondary school.

Additional information may be obtained from the high school guidance office or by contacting the Office of Admissions.

Advanced Placement

A maximum of 32 credit hours of alternative credit may be counted toward graduation. This includes IB, AP, and CLEP. No credit will be awarded for Subsidiary level examinations. For additional information, contact the Office of Admissions.

Advanced Placement Courses and Carthage Policy

Advanced Placement Examinations, consisting of both objective and free response sections, are administered by the College Board to students who have completed college-level Advanced Placement courses in high school. A score of 1 through 5 is assigned by a group of evaluators based on the score for the objective section and review of the free response questions. Carthage awards credit in recognition of scores 3 through 5. Entering students who wish credit for Advanced Placement must submit official results to the Registrar's Office.

All Advanced Placement courses are subject to departmental review of scores and/or booklet before credits are awarded. AP scores must be 3 or above to receive Carthage credit.

International Baccalaureate

The International Baccalaureate (IB) is an internationally recognized program that enables students to follow a special curriculum and take specific examinations to fulfill secondary school graduation requirements. The IB diploma program is recognized by Carthage for purposes of admission, course credit, and advanced standing or placement. These examinations are given in high schools that have the IB program. Credit is based on a review of the candidate's IB program. Credit may be given for scores of 4 or higher in selected Higher Level examinations.

GED Applicants

Students having completed the Graduate Equivalency Diploma (GED) program must provide evidence of their achievement by submitting an official copy of the GED certificate that includes the score. The certificate must be provided in addition to a transcript of the applicant's high school grades.

International Students

In addition to submitting the application and secondary school transcript, international students must demonstrate proficiency in the English language, as indicated by the TOEFL (Test of English as a Foreign Language). Preference is given to international students who score at least 500 on the TOEFL, or have completed Level 109 at an ELS Language

Center. For secondary school transcripts in a language other than English, English translations are required. A non-refundable fee of $40 must accompany the application. The I-20 form is issued once a student has been admitted to the College. Students who have taken courses at an institution that is not on the American System will need to have their transcripts evaluated by an accredited agency such as Educational Credential Evaluators, Inc. (ECE). The College will use the evaluation to make an admission decision.

Transfer Students

A student who has completed course work at other collegiate institutions is welcome to transfer to Carthage. Students wishing to transfer college credits to Carthage may do so by contacting the appropriate office. Students wishing to take 12 or more credits in the term should contact the Office of Admissions. Students wishing to take 11 or fewer credits in the term should contact Adult Education. After admission and acceptance to the College, official evaluations will be completed by the Registrar's Office only when official transcripts from all previously attended collegiate institutions are received.

Transfer students planning to enroll full-time (12 or more credits) should submit the following to the Office of Admissions: (1) a completed application; (2) an official and final high school transcript; (3) official transcripts from all college-level course work and each previously attended college/university; and (4) the $35 application fee.

Students considered for transfer admission to Carthage should be in good standing with all previous or current colleges and have a minimum grade point average of 2.0 (on a 4.0 scale).

Carthage gives appropriate value to transcripts and records from institutions accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and similar regional associations when comparable courses or areas are taught at Carthage.

Credits from a junior college cannot be transferred if earned after a student has accumulated half of the number of credits needed for a bachelor's degree at Carthage (69 credits). Students holding an Associate of Arts degree from an accredited junior college receive automatic junior class standing when they transfer to Carthage.

Credits will be transferred for courses in which grades of "C-" (or its equivalent at Carthage) or above are earned. Credits transferred will be entered on the student's permanent record without reference to the grade earned. Grades are not transferred. Grades from all attended institutions are used in computing the cumulative grade point average for teacher education.

Admission to the Graduate Program

Applicants to the Master of Education or Advanced Licensure programs are considered throughout the year, with matriculation occurring in Summer, Fall, January, or Spring Term. Qualifications for admissions include successful completion of a bachelor's degree, employment in a profession that is educational in nature, and a grade point average indicating capacity for graduate study. Each applicant must submit an application and personal statement, official transcripts of all college work, proof of a valid teaching license, the results of a recent Miller Analogies Test, three letters of recommendation, and have an interview with the director of the Graduate Program. A nonrefundable application fee of $25 must accompany the application.

Carthage Student Fees

The College operates on an annual budget with commitments for faculty, student services, and facilities made one year in advance. Since Carthage develops its operational plan based on anticipated enrollment, the College must have a firm commitment from all students regarding their educational intentions.

Carthage operates under a comprehensive fee program covering standard charges for the academic year for all full-time students. This comprehensive fee includes: tuition for 12 to 18 credit hours during each of the Fall and Spring Terms and up to four (4) credit hours during the January Term; and charges for a double room and standard meal board plan for resident students. For the 2013-2014 academic year, the comprehensive fee is $34,850 for commuting students and $44,350 for resident students.

All full-time students who are not living at home must reside in a College residence hall and eat their meals at the College dining hall, unless other arrangements have been made specifically with the College administration.

Advance Payments

Carthage requires all new, full-time students to make a $300 advance payment to confirm their enrollment at the College. This advance payment is fully refundable through the Office of Admissions, if requested in writing on or before May 1. After May 1, this advance payment will be credited to a student's account but will be forfeited to the College by any student who fails to register for the Fall Term.

Returning students will have an opportunity to register for the Fall Term during the prior Spring Term. This registration process gives returning students preference in the selection of classes, as registration for new students does not begin until the close of this registration period. Commuting and resident students must submit a $300 advance payment to complete the registration process. These fees are fully refundable until June 1, and refund requests must be made in writing through the Business Office. After June 1, this advance payment will be credited to the student's account, but will be forfeited to the College by any student who fails to complete registration for the Fall Term.

Returning students electing not to sign up for classes or a room assignment during the appropriate period in the spring will be allowed to register for classes and/or a room at any time until mid-August with the appropriate registration payment. However, the selection of classes, rooms, or roommates may be severely limited.

Billing Procedures

College policy requires payment of all charges to be received prior to the start of classes, unless arrangements for a budget payment plan have been completed. In May, all returning and newly admitted students are billed for tuition plus room and board, where applicable, for a full academic year. No payment is required immediately, but each student may select a payment program with as many as 11 or as few as one scheduled payments during the academic year.

Financial aid will be applied to student accounts in essentially equal amounts during the Fall and Spring Terms.

Students registering for only one term will be responsible for the advance payment plus the appropriate charge for the term attended.

2013-2014 Undergraduate Tuition and Fees

In addition to the cost of tuition, room, and board, Carthage provides other student services at additional costs. Following are the fees for the 2013-2014 academic year:

Residence Fee (Double Room)	$9,500	$5,000
Total fee	$44,350	$23,500

Late Payment Fees

A $150 late registration fee will be assessed to any full-time student failing to complete the registration process during the scheduled period. Regardless of the date of registration, the $300 advance payment will be required to complete the registration process.

Carthage does not charge interest on student accounts if payments are received as scheduled. However, the College will charge a fee for late receipt of a scheduled payment. The late fee is equal to 1 percent per month of the past due balance.

ALL NOTICES OF WITHDRAWAL MUST BE MADE IN WRITING

All notices of withdrawal and/or requests for refunds from the College, including cancellation of registration and/or residential status, must be in writing and addressed to either the Office of the Dean of Students, the Office of the Registrar, or the Business Office. The official date of withdrawal will be earliest of: the date the student appears in person at one of the designated offices and signs an appropriate withdrawal document; the date of receipt of any faxed message indicating withdrawal from the College or specific class; or the postmark on the envelope containing the request.

Tuition and Audit Fee Refunds

Refunds are based upon the percentage of the term which has elapsed during the period of attendance. This percentage of attendance is determined by dividing the number of term days elapsed by the total days in the term. A student withdrawing after one-third of the term has been completed will receive a tuition credit equal to two-thirds of the tuition charge. All Carthage and federal scholarship or loan awards will be applied to the student account in proportion to period of attendance and federal guidelines. Again, the student withdrawing after completing one-third of the term will receive one-third of the scholarship and loan awards for the term.

AFTER SIXTY PERCENT (60) OF THE TERM HAS ELAPSED, NO TUITION OR AUDIT FEES WILL BE REFUNDED AND 100 PERCENT OF THE SCHOLARSHIP AND LOAN AWARDS WILL BE CREDITED TO THE STUDENT ACCOUNT.

Billing and Refund Policy for Accelerated Certification for Teachers (ACT)

Billing:

This is a 14-month cohort-based program taught over four consecutive semesters. The entire tuition for the 2013-2014 cohort is $17,065, which is billed to students in three equal amounts at the beginning of each of the first three semesters. There is no billing for the fourth and final semester.

ACT Program Refund Policy:

All notices of withdrawal and/or requests for refunds must be in writing and addressed to the ACT program director, Paul Zavada. The official date of withdrawal will be the earliest of: the date the student appears in person at the Program Director's office and signs an appropriate withdrawal document; the date of receipt of any faxed message indicating withdrawal from the program; or the postmark on the envelope containing the withdrawal request.

Refunds can only be made during the first 60 percent of the entire program. After 60 percent of the program has elapsed, no program tuition will be refunded and 100 percent of the scholarship and loan awards will be credited to the student account.

The percentage of the program completion is determined by dividing the number of calendar days elapsed since the start of the program by the total number of calendar days in the entire cohort program.

Residency Refunds

Resident students withdrawing from Carthage during an academic term are entitled to an adjustment based only upon the meals not provided. Board adjustment will be based upon the rate of $50.00 multiplied by the number of board weeks remaining between the official withdrawal date, and the last day of the final examination period.

Special Note:

Students beginning the academic year during the Fall Term will be billed for the full academic year unless Carthage is notified of an intention to attend a single term only. Students who are billed for the full academic year and withdraw during the Fall Term will receive credit for the term of non-attendance at an amount equal to the difference between these posted rates, plus the appropriate Fall Term refund as defined above.

Final Accounting

A final statement showing all final charges, credits, and/or adjustments normally will be mailed within 30 days of the notice of withdrawal. This final statement will show any balance due to the College, or indicate an amount to be returned to the student. Refund checks will be available approximately ten (10) days following the preparation of this final statement.

Individuals seeking clarification or review of either this final statement or the application of the refund policy to his or her individual situation should address all inquiries to:

William R. Abt
Senior Vice President for Administration and Business
Carthage College

Appeal Process

Students wishing to appeal the refund decision may do so by writing to the Senior Vice President for Administration and Business.

Veterans Administration Educational Program

Students who plan to attend Carthage under the Veterans Administration Educational Program are urged to promptly apply to the appropriate VA agency for necessary authorization well in advance of their registration date. The proper authorization should be presented to the Registrar's Office immediately after admission to the College.

Veterans enrolling under the educational program should be prepared to pay all charges in full or make application for a Deferred Payment Plan.

Payment Options

Carthage allows students to pay for tuition and room and board in regular installments during the academic year. Specific information regarding these payment options is provided at the time of the initial billing of the comprehensive annual fee, or may be obtained directly from the Business Office.

- Receive financial aid as long as you are eligible and as long as funds are available.
- Appeal any award decisions you feel warrant consideration due to emergency circumstances beyond your control, or office error.

Financial Aid Recipients Have the Responsibility To:

- Check your Carthage email account regularly. College-assigned email accounts are the College's official means of communication with you.
- Update your address, phone, and cell numbers as soon as you become aware of a change.

- Read all materials sent to you.
- Be prepared to provide the expected family contribution (EFC).
- Provide accurate, factual information on all financial aid forms requested, within 30 days of the request, but no later than the last date of attendance, whichever is earlier. Failure to do so will result in cancellation of part or all of your financial aid awards.
- Register early. Registration after the start of a term may result in additional fees, plus a delay or cancellation of part or all of your financial aid and/or additional fees.
- Once admitted, maintain satisfactory academic progress.
- Understand that if you withdraw from any or all of your classes, federal regulations require that all or a portion of any tuition refund you receive be credited to the financial aid funds from which you received assistance. You may also be required to repay any funds you received in excess of your tuition costs that were intended to assist you with living expenses while you attend school.
- Check your financial aid awards disbursed against your Financial Aid Award Letter each semester on your bill from the Business Office.
- Know that if you are in default on any loans and/or owe aid repayments, you will be denied further aid.
- Know that if you receive aid which exceeds your calculated need, you must repay the excess.
- Notify the Office of Student Financial Planning if you drop below half-time enrollment (fewer than 6 credits each term).
- Notify the Office of Student Financial Planning if you change your name.
- Apply for financial assistance annually.
- Keep copies of all billing statements.
- Seek clarification if you do not understand any portion of the financial aid process.

Carthage Scholarship/Grant Program

Carthage administers an aggressive merit scholarship program. These awards are made at the time of admission without regard to financial need. Several of these scholarships are competitive and require a special application, while others are automatically awarded. They are based upon demonstrated academic achievement to date and potential to succeed. Available for up to four years of continuous, full-time undergraduate enrollment, each award requires maintenance of a minimum cumulative grade point average (GPA) at the end of each Spring Term as indicated below:

Scholarship/Grant	Minimum GPA
Academic Honors Scholarship	2.75
Alumni Grant	2.00
Badger Boys/Girls State Scholarship	2.50

Each year, at the end of the Fall Term, the cumulative grade point average (GPA) is reviewed for continued scholarship eligibility. Students wishing to use J-Term grades toward their cumulative GPA must submit a written request to the Office of Student Financial Planning prior to the first day of J-Term classes. Warning letters are sent to those who currently are not meeting their scholarship terms and the Spring Term is considered probationary. At the end of each Spring Term, the cumulative GPA is reviewed to determine renewal of scholarship(s).

If the student's cumulative GPA leads to the termination of the scholarship, the student may submit a written appeal to the Director of Student Financial Planning and/or enroll in summer classes at Carthage. Reinstatement of the financial aid depends upon the outcome of the appeal.

The College offers continuing students an opportunity to compete for merit awards, such as Heritage Scholarships, departmental honors, and selected endowed scholarships. These require faculty recommendation, and may have additional stipulations as developed by the department or donor. The Office of Student Financial Planning can provide more details.

Verification

Each year the Federal Government randomly selects students to complete a process called verification. This process requires the College to verify information submitted on your Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). If you have been selected, you will receive notification from the Carthage Office of Financial Planning asking you to complete our verification worksheet and submit federal income tax transcripts as soon as possible.

Financial aid awards calculated prior to completing the verification process are considered estimates until we have verified your information. If necessary, we will make corrections with the federal FAFSA processor and then confirm the level of financial assistance for which you are eligible to receive. We strongly encourage you to complete this process in a timely manner to lock in your eligibility for state, federal, and institutional assistance.

Eligibility for many awards is based on financial need, as determined through the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA).

Institutional Grant Programs

In addition to a broad range of federal and state programs, Carthage supplements these awards with a generous commitment of institutional need-based grants. The financial grant is just one form of institutional aid in which the amount varies based on need, and completion of the FAFSA.

Applying Aid to Student Accounts

Federal regulations and Carthage policy require that all grants and scholarships – whether from the College, or from federal, state, or private source – be applied directly to the student's account. (Work-Study is a payroll program, and no transfer of funds is made. Please see the section on Work-Study for more information.) For many programs, the aid will be credited to students' accounts electronically, without the need for students to intervene. Anytime Carthage receives a check requiring a student's endorsement, the student will be asked to visit the Business Office to sign the check(s).

Early each term, the Office of Student Financial Planning will initiate a process to assure that all funds for which students are eligible be applied to their student account with the Business Office. The bills that students receive from the Business Office will detail the charges and the aid credited to the account. After all charges have been paid, any credit balance remaining will be refunded from loan proceeds.

Refunds

If a student withdraws or is dismissed from Carthage, then the student may be eligible for a refund of a portion of the tuition and board paid to Carthage for that term. (See tuition and residency refunds, page 132). If the student received financial assistance from outside of the family, then a portion of the refund will be returned to the grant, scholarship, or loan source from which the assistance was received.

If a student will be withdrawing, the student should obtain a notification of withdrawal form from the Registrar's Office. The student officially has begun the withdrawal process when this form is completed and returned to the Registrar. This procedure will enable Carthage to refund the maximum possible institutional charges.

The federal "Return of Title IV Aid" formula derived from the Reauthorization of the Higher Education Act (10/7/98) establishes the percentage of federal aid to be repaid. The federal formula is applicable to any student receiving TIP funding or federal Title IV aid other than Federal Work-Study, if that student withdraws on or before the completion of 60 percent of the term. Other financial assistance will be returned using the same percentage as is used for Title IV aid, whether or not the student received Title IV aid. If a student withdraws without notifying Carthage, then the refund is 50 percent, unless Carthage documents that the student was in attendance beyond the completion of 50 percent of the term.

The federal formula provides a return of Title IV aid if the student received federal financial assistance in the form of a Pell Grant, Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant, TIP Grant, Perkins Loan, Stafford Loan, or PLUS loan, and withdrew on or before the completion of 60 percent of the term. The percentage of the refund is equal to the number of calendar days remaining in the term, divided by the number of calendar days in the term. Scheduled vacation periods of more than four days are excluded.

For purposes of repayment, if federal Title IV aid exceeds institutional charges, then the student will be required to repay some of the federal grants or loans released to the student if the student withdraws on or before the completion of 60 percent of the term.

Worksheets used to determine the amount of refund, Return of Title IV aid, or repayment are available upon request from the Financial Aid Office.

The following example illustrates how the policy would apply:

Suppose a student withdraws on the 20th day of a 100-calendar-day term. Also, suppose that the charge for tuition was $8,875 and the residency charge was $2,555. The student received a $2,500 federal loan, a $1,500 federal Pell Grant, a $1,150 Wisconsin Tuition Grant, and a $4,000 Carthage grant. The family also paid the balance due in full in the amount of $2,280. Eighty percent of the total Title IV aid and 80 percent of each non-federal aid source would be returned since the student withdrew at the completion of 20 percent of the term. The tuition would be reduced by 80 percent and the board charges would be reduced by $715.20 ($8.94 per day, multiplied by 80 days). The family would then receive a refund check in the amount of $492.50.

This policy went into effect Sept. 1, 1999.

Applying for Need-Based Financial Aid

The financial aid application process is an annual responsibility. The Free Application for Student Financial Aid should be completed electronically at www.fafsa.ed.gov. The federal processor will send renewal information each year thereafter. If your renewal information is not received by Jan. 1, stop by the Office of Student Financial Planning for directions on how to proceed. Failure to file the FAFSA each year may jeopardize your smooth progression through registration and check-in.

For additional financial aid information, contact the Office of Student Financial Planning at 262-551-6001.

Satisfactory Academic Progress Policy

Federal regulations require that a student receiving financial aid maintain satisfactory academic progress according to the policies established by the institution. Academic progress will be evaluated on the basis of cumulative credit hours and cumulative grade point average.

Course incompletes, withdrawals, course repeats, and non-credit remedial courses do not count as credit in maintaining satisfactory academic progress. The maximum time frame in which students must complete their degree program is as follows:

1. Full-time Students

Full academic years attempted	Min. number of cumulative credit hours completed at the end of that year
1	24
2	50
3	78
4	108

2. Part-time Students

Allowed an 8-year period.

2	24
4	64
6	100
7	120
8	138

3. Graduate students shall have a four-year period as defined by the Master's program, completing a total of 8 credits per academic year.

4. GPA and Completion Standards

Students must maintain at least a 2.0 cumulative GPA. Students who do not maintain the required GPA will have their academic standing evaluated on the basis of the chart under Academic Standards. In addition to the GPA requirement a student must also complete a minimum of 67% of coursework attempted.

5. Financial Aid Probation Criteria

Students who do not meet the satisfactory academic progress requirement may appeal for one term of probation in which they can receive financial aid. Since progress is evaluated at the end of each Spring Term, the probationary term will usually be upcoming Fall Term. If the student has not shown progress at the end of the probationary term, additional financial assistance may be withheld until the cumulative hour requirement and/or GPA requirement is met.

6. Financial Aid Appeal Process

Students whose financial aid has been withheld because they have not met the Satisfactory Academic Progress policy may appeal to the Financial Aid Committee.

7. Financial Aid Adjustments

Occasionally, adjustments are made to financial aid awards reflecting either an increase or decrease in state, federal, private, or institutional funding. Understand that your eligibility for specific funds may be altered due to federal guidelines if you later find you qualify for outside assistance (e.g., veterans' benefits, private scholarships, grants, etc.). In the event this should occur, you will receive a revised award letter and your next billing statements will reflect the changes.

8. Less Than Full-Time Enrollment

Students enrolled with fewer than 12 credits during any one term are considered part-time students. Financial aid to part-time students is limited to eligibility for Federal Pell Grants, Federal Grad PLUS, ACG, SMART, TEACH, Federal Stafford Loan, or Federal Unsubsidized Stafford Loan. Individuals enrolled on a part-time basis must be degree-seeking students in order to receive Title IV funding, or enrolled in an eligible certification program.

Students who are awarded a full-time aid package and drop below full-time status prior to the end of the refund period will be considered part-time students and have the aid award adjusted. Should a student be enrolled full-time at the end of the refund period, and subsequently drop to less than 12 credits, the aid package is unaffected, but the student may have difficulty maintaining satisfactory academic progress, and future aid eligibility may be jeopardized. Students should visit the Office of Student Financial Planning before changing enrollment from full-time to part-time status.

9. Housing Status

Students who change their living status from resident to commuter, or vice versa, may see changes in their financial aid awards. To make sure these changes will fit within your financial budget, discuss any residence changes with a financial aid representative before committing to a new residence.

Student Life

The Dean of Students Office is responsible for a variety of functions that aid students in many phases of their campus life. These include new student orientation, personal counseling, health services, housing and residential life, student activities, Greek life, and leadership development.

New Student Orientation

Orientation for new students is a three-day event that begins the Sunday before the start of the Fall Term. During the program, the College welcomes new students and introduces them to the Carthage community. Activities include academic sessions with faculty members and first-year advisors, small group meetings designed to integrate the individual into the community, and educational programming. Opportunities to meet other students and faculty are provided through social events. Individuals entering as full-time students are required to participate in Orientation.

Housing and Residential Life

Carthage College long has been committed to the residential nature of a college education; it is one of our core values. The best collegiate experience is one where the curriculum and the co-curriculum are seamlessly integrated. With this value in mind, full-time students will be expected to live in the residence halls and be enrolled in a meal plan until their senior year.

Professional Hall Directors are employed by Carthage and reside in the residence halls. They team up with Assistant Hall Directors and Resident Assistants to create an environment that facilitates the development of the whole individual. The residence hall staff strives to create a supportive and dynamic living/learning atmosphere in order to provide opportunities for educational, social, emotional, physical, recreational, and cultural growth.

Residence halls are closed during Thanksgiving, Christmas, and spring recesses. Students who cannot leave must be granted permission to stay by the Dean of Students' Office. Carthage assumes no responsibility for students during these periods, or for personal property left in residence hall rooms. Reasonable precautions are taken, however, to safeguard the buildings.

All returning residential students must complete an online housing contract for the following academic year and make an advance payment with Carthage by the deadline date. An advance payment of $300 and full time class registration is required before a student is able to register for housing. Residential students desiring entry at the second term must also complete a housing contract and make an advance payment when they are admitted to the College. Advance payments made for the autumn (by current students) are not refundable after June 1. Advance payments made by new students for the Fall Term are non-refundable after May 1. Advance payments made for January and February (by new students) are not refundable after Nov. 1.

Advance payments are necessary for eligibility for Carthage housing, but do not guarantee a housing assignment. For a full list of requirements to live in housing, and an update on the availability of housing, please contact the Dean of Students Office. All housing assignments are made by the Dean of Students Office.

Student Organizational Development

Carthage strongly believes that through involvement in organizations and activities, a student truly completes the circle of education that a residential liberal arts college strives to create. For that reason, the Dean of Students Office promotes the development of student organizations. Assistance on a wide range of subjects is available pertaining to student organizations including activities, programs, and constitution development. In addition, student organizations are encouraged to utilize the facilities of the Todd Wehr Center.

General Regulations

Regulations and standards pertaining to student conduct are presented in detail in the Carthage Community Code which is available on the Carthage website. A paper version is available from the Dean of Students Office. Students are expected to know and adhere to the rules and standards. Carthage reserves the right to discipline those who ignore established rules, practices, and procedures as well as those whose conduct is in violation of the Community Code, or is otherwise contrary to the best interests of the individual, fellow students, or Carthage.

Motor Vehicle Regulations

While enrolled at Carthage, all students who possess an automobile, motor scooter, motorbike, or motorcycle must register the vehicle(s) with Carthage. Parking permits are limited and must be purchased by any student wishing to have a car on campus. Complete information concerning this regulation is provided at registration. Further information is available from the Business Office or the Public Safety Office.

Health and Counseling Services

The Health and Counseling Center, located in the N.E. Tarble Athletic and Recreation Center, is staffed by a Registered Nurse, Director of Counseling and a Counselor/Outreach Coordinator for Sexual Assault, Alcohol and Drug Education. The resources of the Health and Counseling Center are available to students through the nurse. Students may choose other local physicians for consultation and treatment. Expenditures for treatment outside the Health and Counseling Center are assumed by the student, whether the physician is called by the student, by a friend, or by a Carthage staff member.

Students under 18 years of age must have a signed parental consent form in order to receive treatment in the Health and Counseling Center. The Center is open Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. during the academic year, excluding official Carthage breaks.

Carthage normally reserves the right to admit a student to a local hospital under the care of a physician when deemed necessary. Any parent or guardian who refuses to grant Carthage such permission must indicate this in writing before the student is enrolled.

Certified psychological counseling is also available. Further information on this service is available from the Dean of Students Office or the Health and Counseling Center.

Carthage requires each full-time student to subscribe to a qualified medical insurance plan. More detailed information is available upon request from the Business Office.

Carthage also requires a statement of health (physical) from a physician in order for the student to participate in intercollegiate sports or spirit team.

Organizations and Activities

For many students, the academic side of college is enhanced by another phase of campus life: participation in the many extra-curricular activities that Carthage offers. Students benefit greatly from their associations with these groups, deriving both enjoyment and valuable learning experiences. Please see the Carthage website for a listing of student organizations.

David A. Straz, Jr. Center for the Natural and Social Sciences (DSC)

Situated at the north end of campus, the David A. Straz, Jr. Center houses classrooms, teaching and research laboratories for the Division of Natural Sciences, a rooftop greenhouse, and offices for various faculty throughout its three floors and 120,000 square feet. The center core of the Straz Center contains the 400-seat Wartburg Auditorium and the Studio Theatre located on the terrace level.

A. W. Clausen Center for World Business (CC)

Recognizing that students are graduating into a global economy, the College opened the A. W. Clausen Center for World Business in September 2004. Situated in the north wing of the David A. Straz, Jr. Center, the Clausen Center for World Business provides offices, classrooms, and other facilities for the departments of Business, Economics, Political Science, and Computer Sciences. Housing 10 classrooms, five seminar rooms, and an executive conference room/classroom laboratory, the Clausen Center hosts numerous special lectures and visits by international business leaders.

Lentz Hall (LH)

A four-story building perched on the campus bluff overlooking Lake Michigan, Lentz Hall is home to the Admissions Office, Business Office, Office of Institutional Advancement, Office of the President, Office of the Provost, the Career Services Center, the Registrar's Office, and the Adult Education Office. Serving as one of the primary academic centers of the campus, Lentz Hall contains numerous classrooms, specialized teaching facilities, and offices for many of the Humanities and Education department faculty. The building is named for the Rev. Dr. Harold H. Lentz, 18th President of the College, who served from 1952 to 1976. He courageously led the College during its crucial transition from Carthage, Ill., to Kenosha.

Walter Fritsch Meditation Chapel

Enjoying its position nestled within a grove of mature oak trees, this charming 40-seat chapel constructed of native Lannon stone with timber frames is enjoyed by Carthage community members for private meditation, Eucharist, or prayer services. The chapel is adorned with a Greek cross fashioned by internationally renowned liturgical artist Eugene Potente, Jr., a resident of Kenosha.

Masonry that forms the altar was taken from the steps of the Old Main building at the College's former Illinois campus.

Hedberg Library (HL)

Dedicated in October 2002, Hedberg Library is a state-of-the-art facility uniting print, digital and multi-media information resources. The growing collection of resources contains more than 129,605 print and more than 193,364 electronic volumes, and offers more than 63,493 e-journals and 55 databases. The 65,000-square-foot Hedberg Library houses the My Carthage Resource Center, a one-stop center on the web and in the library that supports all information services and technology needs; the Bleeke Research Center; the Franklin I. and Irene List Saemann Curriculum Resource Center; the Staubitz Archives; the Fess Information Commons; the Brainard Writing Center; the Fritsch Classroom and other electronic classrooms; the Niemann Media Theater; a media and technology suite for video and audio production and presentations; and individual and small group study rooms. Donna's Bytes, a cyber cafe, is immediately adjacent to the library and provides food and a social gathering space, as well as comfortable, overstuffed chairs for conversation around a fireplace. While the entire campus has wireless Internet access, Hedberg Library also contains nearly 500 wired network data ports. The library is named for Donald D. Hedberg '50, Carthage Trustee Emeritus and philanthropist.

A. F. Siebert Chapel (SC)

At the heart of the Carthage campus, A. F. Siebert Chapel provides a beautiful setting for the College's religious life programs. It is the site of a thriving worship series during the week, and weekend worship services. It is the gathering place for important events such as the Carthage Christmas Festival, Honors Convocation, Baccalaureate service, and concerts by renowned musical ensembles, including the Juilliard String Quartet and the Waverly Consort. The 1,500-seat chapel includes the magnificent, four-manual Fritsch Memorial Pipe Organ, the Ehrler Meditation Chapel, and offices for the Dean of the Chapel, Director of Choral Activities, and the Catholic Campus Minister.

H. F. Johnson Center for the Fine Arts (JAC)

The H. F. Johnson Arts Center includes classrooms, practice areas, teaching studios, and faculty offices for both the Music and Art departments. The Center houses the Recital Hall and Art Gallery. Music facilities include band and choir rooms, numerous practice rooms, and piano laboratory. Dedicated art facilities include ceramic, 3D, drawing, painting, and etching classrooms/labs.

N. E. Tarble Athletic and Recreation Center (TARC)

Opened in June 2001, the 156,000-square-foot N. E. Tarble Athletic and Recreation Center houses the Koenitzer Aquatic Center, featuring a 25-yard-by-40-meter, 16-lane competition pool; the 5,000-square-foot Semler Health and Fitness Center; the McNamara Baseball and Softball Practice Area; the Snap-on ACE Climbing Wall; a 200-meter indoor track; the Karstetter Racquetball Courts; the Jon Swift Sports Medicine Center; an aerobics area; multipurpose courts for basketball, volleyball, and tennis; six locker rooms hosting more than 500 lockers; the Postlewaite Press Box; and offices for the athletic staff, which include the Cornog Swimming Coaches' Office, the Lyons Volleyball Coach's Office, and the Art Keller Football Coach's Office. The Field House is home to the spring Commencement exercises and large-scale concerts and events.

Tarble Arena

The Tarble Arena, reopened in 2009 after a $13.5 million renovation, provides indoor facilities for physical education and athletics. The arena serves as the competition arena for basketball and volleyball. The facility hosts four classrooms, seven office suites, an athletic training/exercise physiology laboratory, an athletic team fitness center, and the David E. Dale Golf Center. The arena seats 2,500 for basketball or volleyball, and 3,000 for concerts and other events. Past concerts have featured national acts including Dave Matthews, John Mayer, Bob Dylan, The Script, Phillip Phillips, and The Fray.

Todd Wehr Center (TWC)

The Todd Wehr Center is positioned proudly in the middle of the student residential area. This facility, supporting the co-curricular life of Carthage students, contains the campus Dining Commons, student mailboxes, student lounges, and a suite of multipurpose meeting and event rooms. The campus Dining Commons located on the second floor received a summer 2012 renovation and upgrading. The Dining Commons offer a variety of dining options provided by Sodexo Food Service, North America's largest provider of food and facilities management. The Todd Wehr Center is host to a variety of dances, performances, cabaret events, and other recreational events presented for the enrichment of student life at Carthage. The Dean of Students Office and First-Year Advisors are housed here.

Campbell Student Union

The Campbell Student Union opened in August 2011 and serves as the campus living room. Proving that the gathering is always in the kitchen, Carthage students frequent the Student Union's eateries, which include Jamba Juice, World of Wings Cafe & Wingery, Baja Fresh, and Seattle's Best Coffee. Rounding out the retail main street, the Union also contains the campus Barnes and Noble Bookstore and Street Corner, Carthage's own convenience store. The 200-seat student activity auditorium proudly boasts a state-of-the-art digital projection system in a THX-certified showplace. The western face of the Campbell Student Union comprises the 1,700-seat home field seating of the Art Keller Football Stadium and the 2,000-square-foot Athletic Press Box.

The Joan C. Potente Chapel

The Joan C. Potente Chapel provides an oasis for nurturing the spirit. Reflection, meditation, prayer, and worship can restore balance and provide inspiration in the lives of those who come here. It is nestled among The Oaks Residential Village at the south end of campus. Although open to all students and the greater community, this chapel reflects a Roman Catholic atmosphere. A gift of Gene Potente, whose work also includes the Fritsch Meditation Chapel, the Joan C. Potente Chapel is named in honor of his wife.

Student Residence Halls

Comfortable, on-campus housing accommodations are available to resident students in a number of residence halls. Each hall includes lounges, vending facilities, study areas, laundry rooms, and other services.

Henry Denhart Residence Hall is a coed residence hall offering suite-style rooms, a courtyard, and housing for three Greek organizations: Beta Phi Epsilon, Chi Omega, and Tau Kappa Epsilon. The Student Government Office is located on the terrace level. Denhart Hall hosts an annual fundraiser for the St. Baldrick's Foundation. The building is named for Henry Denhart, an early Carthage Trustee and significant benefactor.

Joseph Johnson Residence Hall is a coed hall that includes five Greek wings: Tau Delta Psi, Sigma Omega Sigma, Delta Upsilon, Phi Kappa Sigma, and Alpha Chi Omega. The terrace level was renovated in 2001 and now includes suite-style rooms. The Campus Security Office also is located on the terrace level. A large courtyard is situated behind the building. Johnson Hall is known for its annual "Johnson Haunted Halls" competition, which takes place each year around Halloween. The building is named for Joseph Johnson, a founder and former chairman of the board of Snap-on, Inc., who was an important benefactor of the College.

Madrigano Family Residence Hall is a coed hall that includes four Greek wings: Tau Sigma Chi, Tau Sigma Phi, Kappa Phi Eta, and Delta Omega Nu. The terrace level is home to The Current, the student-run newspaper, and Centrique, a student literature and arts magazine. Madrigano Hall also houses offices for hall directors, the Carthage Activities Board, WAVE, and Residence Life Council. An outdoor patio area, complete with chairs and a grill, is situated directly behind Madrigano Family Residence Hall.

The Oaks Residential Village is a new cluster of six villas on the south side of campus, overlooking Lake Michigan. The Oaks feature private rooms and baths in suite arrangements, with common lounge areas for each floor and dedicated study rooms in the basements. Every room has stunning views of Lake Michigan and/or a beautiful wooded area.

Pat Tarble Residence Hall is Carthage's all-female residence hall. Situated next to a courtyard and volleyball court, it includes some study-intensive rooms and houses two sororities: Sigma Alpha Chi and Pi Theta. Many rooms overlook Lake Michigan, while others offer suite-style accommodations. The hall is named for Mrs. Pat Tarble, who, along with her husband, Newton E. Tarble, was a generous benefactor of the College.

Swenson Residence Hall is Carthage's all-male residence hall. Swenson Hall houses only 26 students in 13 rooms, eight of which are equipped with private bathrooms.

International Housing

Since 1989, Carthage has invited young scholars from Asia, Europe, and South America to teach their native languages to Carthage students while pursuing their graduate studies at the College. These Target Language Experts (TLEs) in modern languages take residence in a group of College-owned residential homes adjacent to campus. Undergraduate international students enjoy the housing options available in the student residence halls.

Trinity House (Home of the President)

Built as the family home of the President of the College in the early 1960s, the building was a gift from the people of Trinity Lutheran Church in Rockford, Ill. The home was named "Trinity House" in honor of the College's decades-long relationship with the congregation. The College rededicated Trinity House during Homecoming weekend in October 2003, following a major renovation of the home that summer.

Smeds Tennis Center

Across the street from the main campus, the $1.3 million Smeds Tennis Center features 10 hard surface tennis courts, six of which are lighted; two stadium courts; an observation deck; and a clubhouse, which houses locker rooms, restrooms, team meeting space, and a juice bar. The facility is named for Edward W. and Alice Smeds, alumni of the College. Mr. Smeds is a Trustee Emeritus of the College, and served as the Chairman of the Board of Trustees from 1997 to 2011.
